This is a story of a dog named Soleil!

PUBLIC
USE ~~FREE~~

SOLEIL

Sol had been being captured and kidnapped by wolves on the way home a while ago. At the start, he had a single owner, but after around a year, he grew bored of his pet.

This is, however, is expected. After an owned pet is no longer wanted, they are downgraded to public service pets.

While they're still relatively new, wolves need to pay to use them, but as the novelty wears off, their price goes further and further down until barely anyone is using them, even for free.

Once that happens, the change their main use once again and, today, is Soleil's turn.

You actually want to use this one??
G'mon, there's better ones further down!!

Ah yeah, I guess you're right...
He's kinda cute tho...

Good morning, Sol~
Are you ready to start your new job?

...a new job?
Again?

Well of course, people are bored of just fucking you!

Does that mean Sol can go home now??

Don't be silly, pet!

From now on, we're cutting your birth control and you'll be one of your breeding dogs! ♡

As the name implies, a breeding pet's main job is to carry more wolf pups for the den.

Sol is very frightened by the prospect. His previous owner only got him pregnant once and it had been horrible enough. He is not looking forward to his new 'job'.

No...

Please...!!

Sol will do anything!!

Sol will behave!!

Sol will be a good pet!!

Sol promises!!

Oh, anything?

then be the good pet you say you'll be and carry our pups~

Ahh, no!!

Just...not that!!

then I guess you're not that good of a pet, after all!

Yeah, you're only good for breeding at this point.

Just accept it already!!

Soleil had hoped the lack of interest in him would remain after his job change, but his hopes are quickly dashed, as when a dog becomes a breeding pet, there usually is a renewed interest in using them.

Goodness, you're pathetic.
This is only your first day!

no...
Please...

Don't worry, he'll get used to it again soon enough.
It's not like he has a choice anyway.

Soleil can't keep up with how many times
he is being fucked and knotted. He had spent too much time barely being touched, the sudden increase in
'attention' is way too overwhelming for him.

Too...too much...
No more...

Along the years, it became a sort of game for the wolves to see who could put more puppies in them.
Until they're pregnant for sure, breeding pets will be used more than the average public pet. That's how much wolves are dedicated to their game!

It's decided Soleil will be left like that for a whole month before they'd even try to confirm a pregnancy.

He hopes that, after a few days, the newfound interest in him will die down but, to his dismay, it does not. It almost seems that, the more he begs for mercy and to be allowed some rest, the more people will make a point of fucking him every single day.

The poor pet tries to count the days but he loses count before even the first week has passed. Asking the wolves is fruitless. They seem to enjoy messing with him, answers changing every time he asks.

His abused cunt is constantly dripping with cum. At the start, he had tried to forcefully expel it, hoping against hope it wouldn't take, but he knows it's in vain.

Soleil has no option but to endure the endless amounts of knotting, knowing more than a few of them will result in his belly filling up with wolf pups yet again. This usually horrifies him, but as time goes on, pregnancy stops being a worry and instead becomes a hope.

Maybe, he thinks, if he finally gets pregnant, the the constant usage of his cunt will stop and he can finally rest for a bit.

He knows he has no choice but to carry the damn things anyway, so he might as well wish for the less worse outcome.

It's time to take your pup test, pet!

Hey, I'm talking to you, dog!

SOLEIL

Uhm...test...?

Soleil is so out of it that he takes a while to process what the wolves are telling him. He can scarcely believe that hellish month is over.

Yeah, to know if you are carrying, silly! I hope your bladder is full enough...

I- uhm... Sol can pee...yes!!

Damn, you've been holding it in for a while, huh?

nhhghh!!

You know, most breeding pets stop being able to their pee in after a couple of litters~

I wonder how long it will take for you to not being able to hold it in anymore, haha.

He doesn't want to think about what will happen if it turns out he is not pregnant. Soleil is nauseated, he hates being put in a position where he is forced to hope to be carrying his captors' pups.

He hates knowing that, whatever happens, his body will be changed, likely permanently, at their will, with no regard to what he wants.

Soleil wishes there was a way out, but he is finally coming to terms with the fact there isn't.

N-no!!

Sol will hold it!!

Sol will!!!

Yeah, sure, pet...

You all say the same.

Oh, congratulations!
there's at least one pup growing inside of you!

It's not that usual for pets test positive within the first month, but I guess you're reeeeeeally fertile, right? that's great!

Most breeding pets take around six months to a year in constant use before they get pregnant.
This is due to them being in high stress situations, which decrease fertility. Also, dogs and wolves are not 100% compatible, so that's also a factor.

...at least?

Well, hopefully it will be at least five or so, but ideally it should be around eight or nine.

...but we can't be sure until you actually give birth, of course.

Although Sol knows that, most of the time, dogs end up with multiples when mating with wolves, he hadn't expected it would be that many.
When he had carried for his previous owner, it had been only four, after all.

He is apalled by the notion of his belly growing even more than last time. The pet wants to cry, but it seems his tears have dried up, only shock showing on his face.

At the start, Soleil gets what he wanted:
Some well deserved rest.

The wolves, surprisingly, do leave him alone for the most part once they learn he is pregnant already.

However, his relief doesn't last that long. A pregnant pet is also considered novelty, since, as previously explained, it can take a while for a breeding pet to actually, well, be bred.

As soon as Sol's belly starts showing, movement picks up yet again. The more full he looks, more wolves come use him.

The worst part is that, because breeding wasn't the main focus now, all his holes are used equally. Some don't even fuck him at all, they just poke and prod at his sensitive parts, trying to get a reaction.

When his breasts grow in size and his nipples darken, they too become a favorite spot of torment, being pulled and twisted by almost every single person who stopped by.

Soleil despairs, realizing his life will be a cycle of this for the rest of his existence.

Cunt constantly dripping with cum, boobs permanently enlarged and dripping milk, belly filled with pups, fur and hair matted with dried cum, all his sensitive parts fully exposed for anyone to 'play' with, having no agency to what happens to himself.

This will be his life.

Forever.

Awwn look at you!
You finally look like a proper breeding pet!

I thought his boobs wouldn't grow too much but I guess I was wrong.
He will be perfect for milking!

Hey, uhm, dude?
I think the pet is acting a bit weird...

...nhgg...

Soleil's boobs grow in size much, much more than last time. His nipples also become much longer and even darker. Maybe it's because it's his second pregnancy, maybe it's because of the sheer volume of pups he is carrying. The reason doesn't really matter as much as his knowledge that this whole ordeal had changed his body to an extent that he had become unrecognizable to himself. And there is nothing he can do about it.

Now that you mention it...
I think he's supposed to deliver this week, maybe he's going into labor?

Damn, you may be right!
We should call the cleaning guys and the vet, just in case...

After a proper clean up, the vet realizes Soleil is going into labor and, to make things easier on themselves, breaks the pet's water, hoping to speed up the process.

Prepare yourself, pet, you're giving birth soon! ♡

What???

Already???

Of course! the full 70 days have already passed!

Your wolf pups are ready to come out~

...here???

No... Not like this...
Everyone is... going to see!!

No...!!

Wait, you're seriously worried about that?
Don't make us laugh...

You're a breeding pet!

Everyone being able to watch you deliver pups for us part of the job description!

There's nothing to be afraid of, little Sol~

You've done this before, haven't you?

While they are right about Soleil having given birth before, at that time, he had been in his owner's house and in a somewhat comfortable position, not in public with his legs forcefully spread open. He is terrified and the pain from the contractions do not help.

Breeding pets don't directly breastfeed their pups, as it would interfere with their use too much. Instead, they are milked daily for the rest of their life.

This is done primarily in order to feed any pups that still need milk, but the (adult) wolves aren't above using any leftovers for their own consumption.

In fact, breeding pets barely even get the chance to so much as look at their offspring once they're out, as it's believed that the sooner they are separated, the less the pups will feel it. The pet themselves are not factored in the situation at all.

The pups will need to eat once they're out, so might as well start milking you.

It feels...
...weird...

Well, you better get used to it, doggy!

these will be attached to your teats pretty much 24/7 from now on!

Ahhh, no, no no!!!
...please!! that's too much!!

It isn't the first time Soleil is hooked to a milking machine, but he feels this one is much more potent than the one his previous owner had at home. The constant suction hurts his already sensitive nipples, but it also forces a weirdly pleasurable sensation upon the pet, which makes him anxious.

The pet is taken by surprise once the stronger contractions start, but he instinctively knows he has to push.

Oooh, it's coming out already!
that was surprisingly fast...

Hmm...

If the first comes out quickly, that usually means there's a whole lot of pups inside.

Wait really?

His belly doesn't seem too big enough for that.

Well, the pups might be small.
Even for a dog this one is quite tiny, so it wouldn't surprise me.

Ah yea, that makes sense!
So, how many would you guess he's carrying?

I'd say at least seven...
If they're really tiny, maybe even ten!

People converse around him, completely ignoring the hell he is going through. Poor Sol is in horrible pain, but he knows no matter how much he cries and begs, he will get neither help nor relief. He just needs to endure and keep pushing to make it end as soon as possible. He hopes things will be easier after the first is out but he know from firsthand experience that's unlikely to be the case.

The pain becomes worse and worse, pushing is becoming harder but still, he keeps at it. Soleil feels his opening burn, way more than the first time he went through this.

Damn, look at this!
His cunt is ripping open!

On the first already?

At this rate he will have a gash all the way to his asshole, haha!

No...!
Please!! No more!!

Don't worry pet, we'll just sew it back up~

Now, stop paying attention to us and focus on your job!

This hadn't happened before. He finally knows what the burning sensation he is feeling is and he is mortified. Sol knows he needs to keep on pushing, but the pain and the fear of hurting himself like that make it extremely hard.

pant

arf!!

pant

pant

ugh...

pant

ohhh, the first one's head is finally out!

Congratulations, pet!

Just a whole bunch more to go ♡~

HURTS IT HURTS IT

HURTS IT HURTS IT

HURTS IT HURTS

HUR SHUT UP!

It will keep hurting if you don't keep

PUSHING!

Stop being so fucking whiny!

If you're going to turn this into a damn scandal we'll just cut you ahead of time for your next birth!

Noooo, please!!

I want to go home!!

Please let Sol go home!!

please please please please! Please please please p
please please please please! Please please please p

this is your life now, dog.

Learn to endure it.

Yeah, you have No choice!

And if you don't stop annoying us, we'll just gag you.

After much effort and tears, the first pup is out.

Awwn, the first pup was born! How cute~ see? this is much easier when you're quiet!

Damn, his cunt is ruined...

Maybe for him...

But for us, after it's sewn it will be even better than a new one!

Yeah you're right! They do end up screaming much more though... I wonder if it hurts them?

Eeeeh, probably.

But it's a pet's job to endure anything we do to them~

Right, Sol?

Y-yeah... pant pant

Or course...

...just don't hurt me too much, please...

As soon as the pup is out, the umbilical cord is cut and they're taken away to be taken care of by other wolves. Soleil has no time to grieve or feel sad, as he again assaulted by strong contractions, all in quick succession, signaling another one would come out soon.

Sol keeps pushing and pushing and yet, there is no sign of any pups. This goes on for several hours.

The vet is even called again (to their annoyance) to check if the pups are alright and, of course, they are, for pant

It's not exactly common, but sometimes there is a significant delay between the first births, which can be especially pronounced between the first and second ones. sob

There's a minuscule chance the delay may hinder the pups a bit if their oxygen is cut. pant

Hey, don't slack off!

If you don't keep pushing, you'll make it harder for the pups to come out!!

Yea, this can be bad for the pups!
We will rip out your clit if they end up hurt due to your laziness!!

Sol is...sorry!!!

Sol is...doing...his...best!!

Sol promises!!

You better be!!

Soleil can barely speak between heavy panting and sobbing. As much as he hates the wolves, he doesn't actually want to harm the pups! He also really wants this to end, so he really focuses all of his (little) remaining strength into pushing.

As if on cue, Sol pushes once more and another pup is completely out!

He keeps at it, focusing only on pushing and pushing and pushing and, before they can even collect the first, another one is out, quickly succeeded by a third.

Only then does the pet allow himself to breathe a little.

In the end out the three pups are born just seconds apart from each other!

This, however, is extremely hard on the pet's body. When the pups passed through his canal, they finished tearing him apart, opening a gash all the way to his anus.

While incredibly painful for the poor pet, it least it will make the remaining births much, much easier!

Oh so you could still push, huh? I guess threatening does work!

What a selfish cunt you are!

You only put in the effort to save yourself! When your own pups were on the line you were slacking off!!

No...!! That's not- Sol was just rest-

The pups are way more important than your 'resting'!!

Stop being so self-centered! You're a pet!!! Your wants do not matter!!

This goes on for quite some time, until all the pups inside the pet's belly are out. After four more are born, the vet comes around one final time to check inside his womb.

Since his cervix had already fully dilated for labor and his opening torn open by the birth itself, they can easily insert their paw all the way inside Soleil's uterus to check for any remaining pups.

This makes the tearing in the pet's cunt even bigger, almost reaching his urethra. He yelps and shakes in pain, but all it does is earn him a slap to the face and more orders to "keep quiet".

Thankfully there aren't any pups remaining! There is just some stubborn placenta that is still stuck to his womb, which the vet quickly scrapes off.

Sol had given birth to a total of 8 healthy pups!

As soon as the vet finishes their job, the remaining wolves talk to each other in order to decide on a punishment for Soleil's bad behavior during labor. They discard the plan of removing his clit (for now), as most of them liked pulling and torturing it for their own amusement.

Of course, they do come up with a solid alternative.

However, first, they need to sew the pet's hole so he would still be usable.

Sewing a pet's hole can be done by anyone, no vet needed.

They make sure Sol's is made extra tight, both for their own pleasure and also as part of his punishment.

With how small they left the opening, it will likely not be wide enough to be penetrated by wolf cock once he's healed, which means he will tear a lot upon subsequent use.

As soon as they're done 'fixing' his hole, they place a mirror right in front of Soleil.

ta-da!

Your cunt will now be extra tight! Look at how small we left the opening! It will hurt a whoooooole lot once we start using you again~

No!!!

Why would you...?

Because it feels good for us, of course~!
A loose pet is of no use.

We did make it even tighter than usual for you though! This is part of your punishment~

Punishment...???

W-why...????

What did Sol do wrong...??

Are you stupid??

You prioritized your needs rather than your pups! You kept complaining during labor! You almost killed your pups due to your selfishness!!
that's unacceptable behavior for a breeding pet!!

Sol is s-sorry!!
sob

Sol won't do it again, Sol promises!!!

Of course you won't!

We will punish you to make sure of that!

By the way, pet...

You haven't looked at yourself in the mirror since you came here, have you?

Now you can finally see how much you've changed!

Even if, by some miracle, you were to escape, your body has been forever changed to that of a pet~

there's absolutely no going back for you ♡

You'd do well to remember that!

Enough talk, let's punish him already!

Yeah, let's get on with it!~

As for the main part of this punishment...

Well, that's a story for another day~

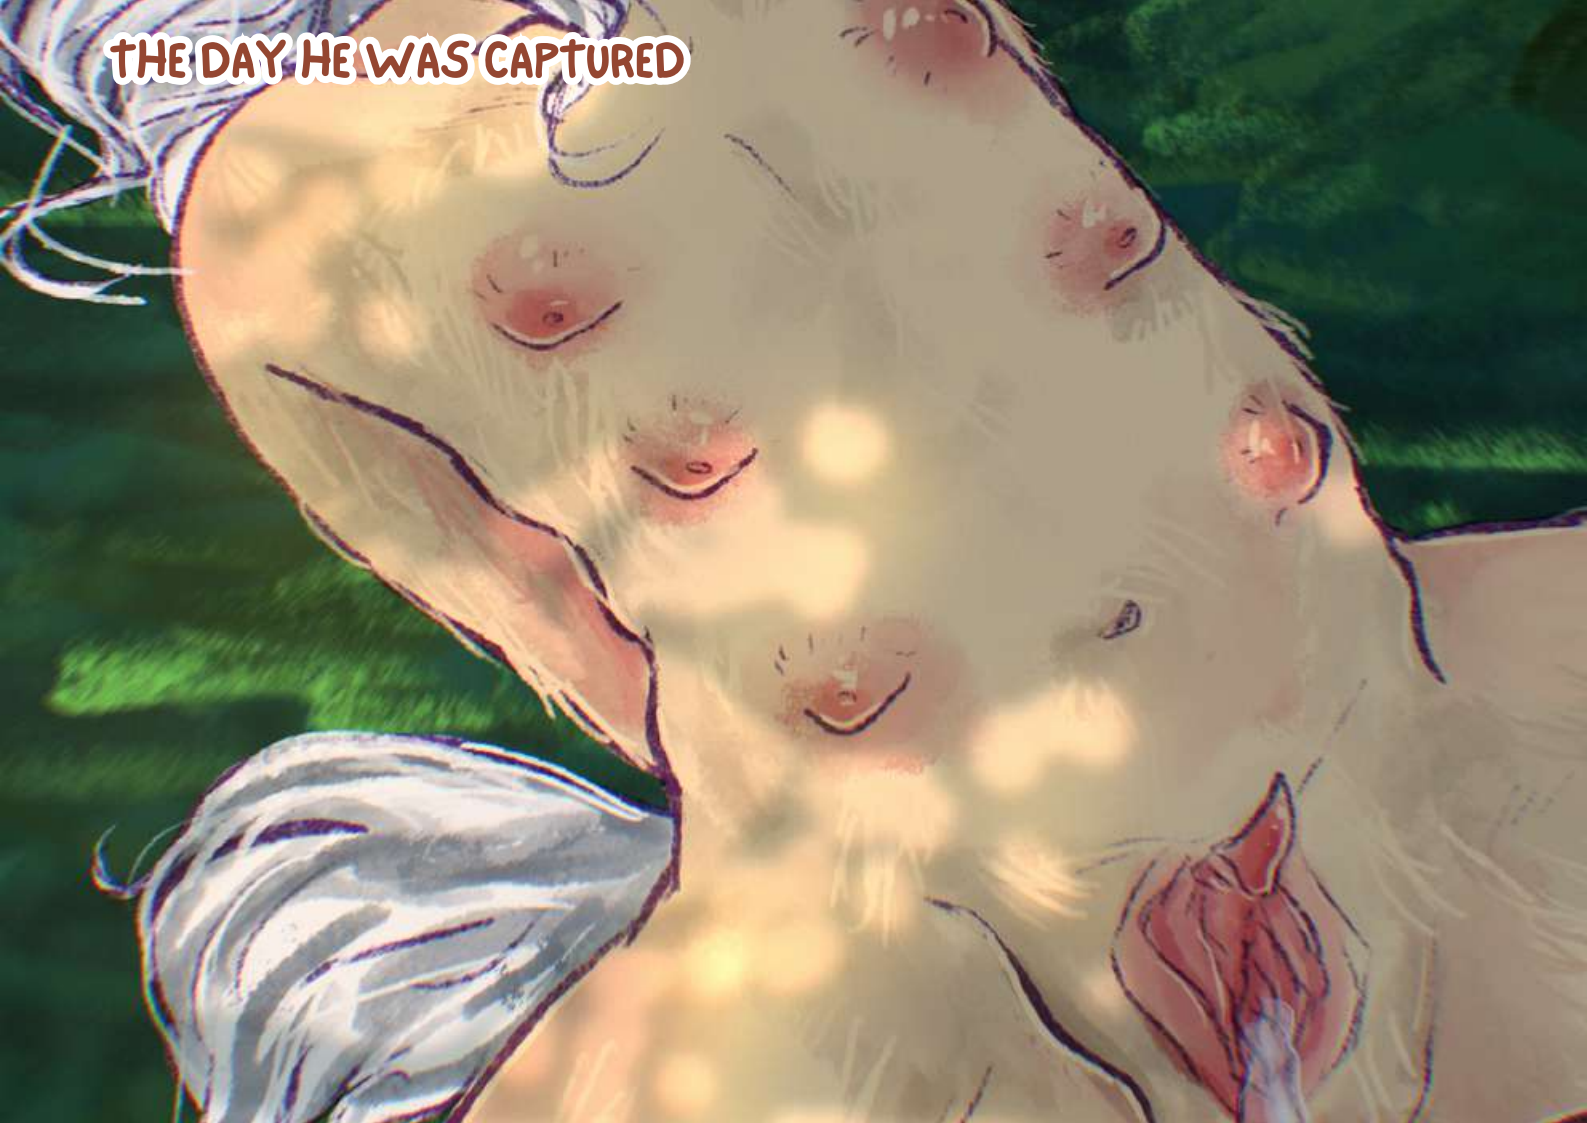

-EXTRA-

I put together some progression montage pages, including some from the first set, so you can easily see Dog!Sol's transformation~

I hope you all like it ^w^

THE DAY HE WAS CAPTURED

AFTER DELIVERING HIS SECOND LITTER

THANK YOU FOR READING!

Author's note:

First things first, I feel I need to address the elephant (well, dog, actually), in the room.

Yes, I did change Solei's fursona design a bit between the two volumes. Oops?

I do think he looks better now so I'll stick with the current design for the foreseeable future >>

The whole thing about birth, labor and obstetric violence genuinely terrifies me so, as always, writing this was kinda cathartic LOL. Who could have guessed making kink art based on your worst fears makes them more manageable x__x. Does this make this "vent art", technically? LOL

If so, I can say my main thing is horny horror vent art hahah.

As always, I feel I need to reinforce that this is a fictional story, the characters do not reflect my actual views, in fact, in most cases their views are complete opposite to mine! That's the whole point! It's supposed to be an awful situation, but because it's fictional, I can fully control it so it starts being not so scary I guess.

If it makes you all feel better, you can think this is all a planned scene done by consenting actors and the blood and puppies are props. Although, I prefer to think it's the imagination of the human version of Soleil coming up with the fucked up scenarios, hahah. Kinda like a story within a story or something like that.

I feel like I've rambled too much about this. I think I can trust none of you are not getting your moral compass out of hardcore kink porn.

Anyway, I hope you liked this volume and look forward for the second one!
