After being kidnapped, raped and forced to pretend to detransition on livestream by an obsessive and bigoted fan, ex-idol Soleil finds himself in a horrible situation with seemingly no escape.

Because of the man's threats to harm, or even kill, his loved ones, Sol is too scared to try to reach out and ask for help or even dare think about running away. The way he sees it, his only option is to try his best to play the role of a "trad wife" to that awful man, then at least he can keep the people he cares about safe. Even if it's at the cost of his own well-being.

His kidnapper appears to be extremely wealthy and hold considerable amount of influence and power, so, to Sol, it doesn't feel farfetched to consider the man may actually be able to get away with going through with his threats. So now, he is stuck in this situation, completely under the man's control and unable to fight back.

He hopes against hope maybe someone who is close to him will see through the lies he's been forced to spew try to help from the outside but, with each passing day, that hope grows slimmer and slimmer .

It doesn't take long for him to realize that his nightmare is far from reaching the end. Not only has he and the kidnapper gotten legally married, that man still has lots of things he wants to do in order to "get back" at Soleil for "betraying" him and his fans.

Ever since that first livestream, Soleil has completely lost access to all his social media.

They're now all controlled by the kidnapper.

“Your breasts are so soft!”

“I'm glad I finally get to touch them every day! I've been dreaming of this for so long!”

“Aren't you happy I made you keep them, dear?”

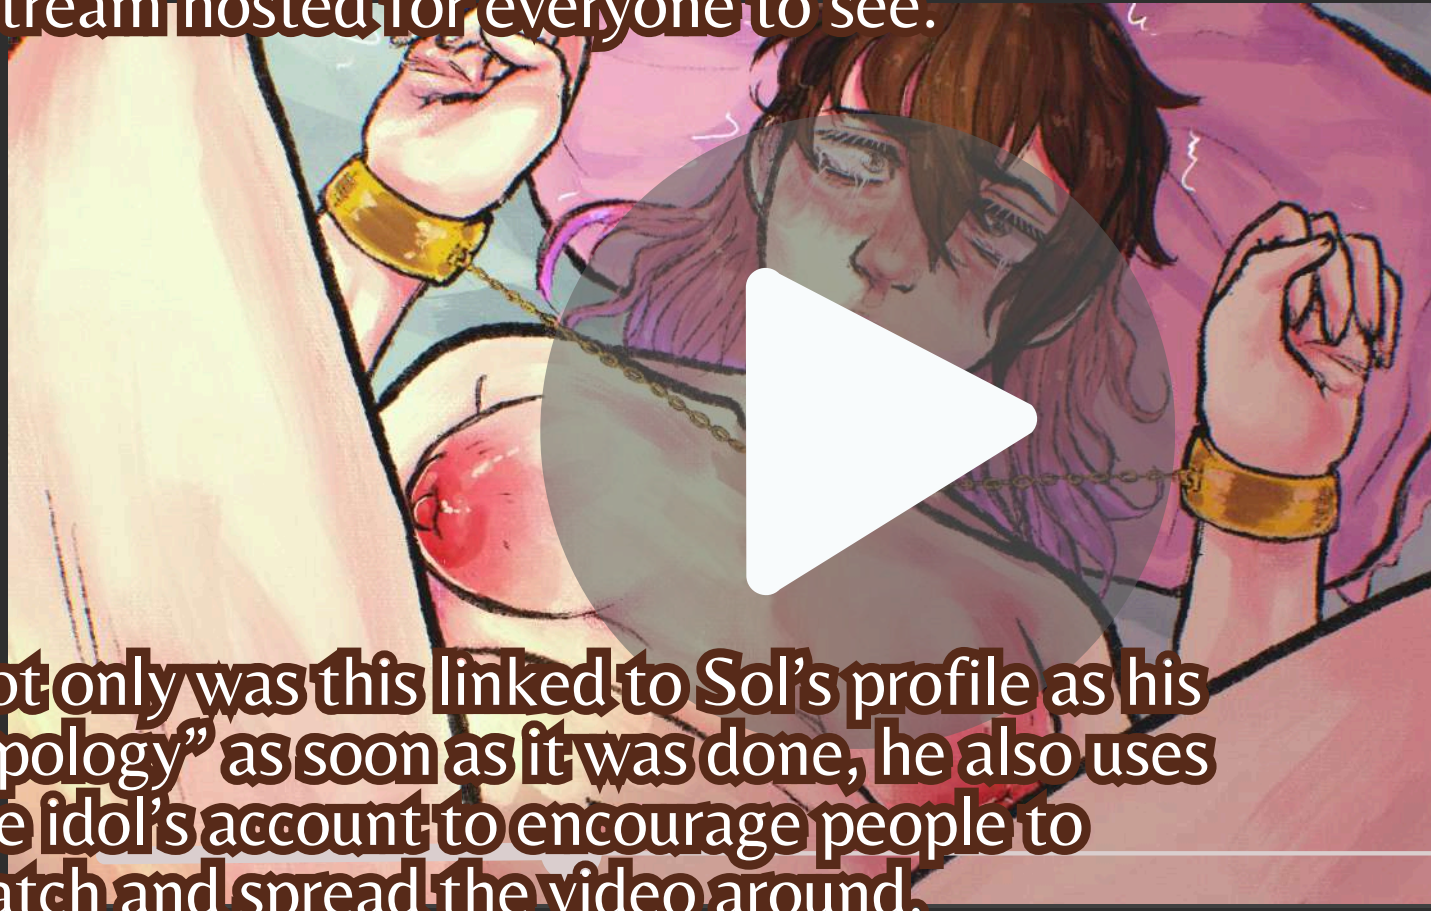

“Y-yeah... of course...”

“I... I couldn't be happier...”

“Your fans are very grateful for that as well, just look at the comments they left for you!”

The man also forces his captive to read everything people write about him. With supervision, of course.

As previously promised, the man had set up a website to keep the first humiliating livestream hosted for everyone to see.

Not only was this linked to Sol's profile as his "apology" as soon as it was done, he also uses the idol's account to encourage people to watch and spread the video around.

“Aren’t you grateful to have so many fans still willing to forgive you after trying to force them to pretend you’re a man?”

“Yes, I’m glad...dear husband...”

He also makes a point of posting regular updates and photos to Soleil’s regular social media.

All of this to make everyone truly believe those awful things were Sol’s decisions from the beginning. That he truly believes the things he’s saying.

Sol [she/her]

Retired idol and now wife to a lovely man. Hopefully, a mama to a bunch of kiddos soon! <3 Transitioning was the biggest mistake of my life, I'm very sorry to all I've disappointed during that time. I hope I can make amends to you all.

Click to watch my sincere apology to my fans

This account is co-managed by my husband, but rest assured I read and treasure all of your supportive comments <3

Of course, any comments expressing doubts or concern over the situation are swiftly deleted. Well, most of them.

In some cases, the man makes Sol himself reply to, so he can correct any “misunderstanding” and reinforce what his “true gender” is.

“It seems some people still don’t understand you’re really a woman...”

“It’s so awful that so many people were willing to feed into your delusional fantasy, don’t you think?”

“Well, Sol, love, can you please reply to these people insisting on pretending you’re a man?”

“You know how to properly answer them, right?”

“Sure...! I just... need to tell them that I... uhm... That I’m a woman... and that... uhm...”

“...and that... my pronouns are she and her only?”

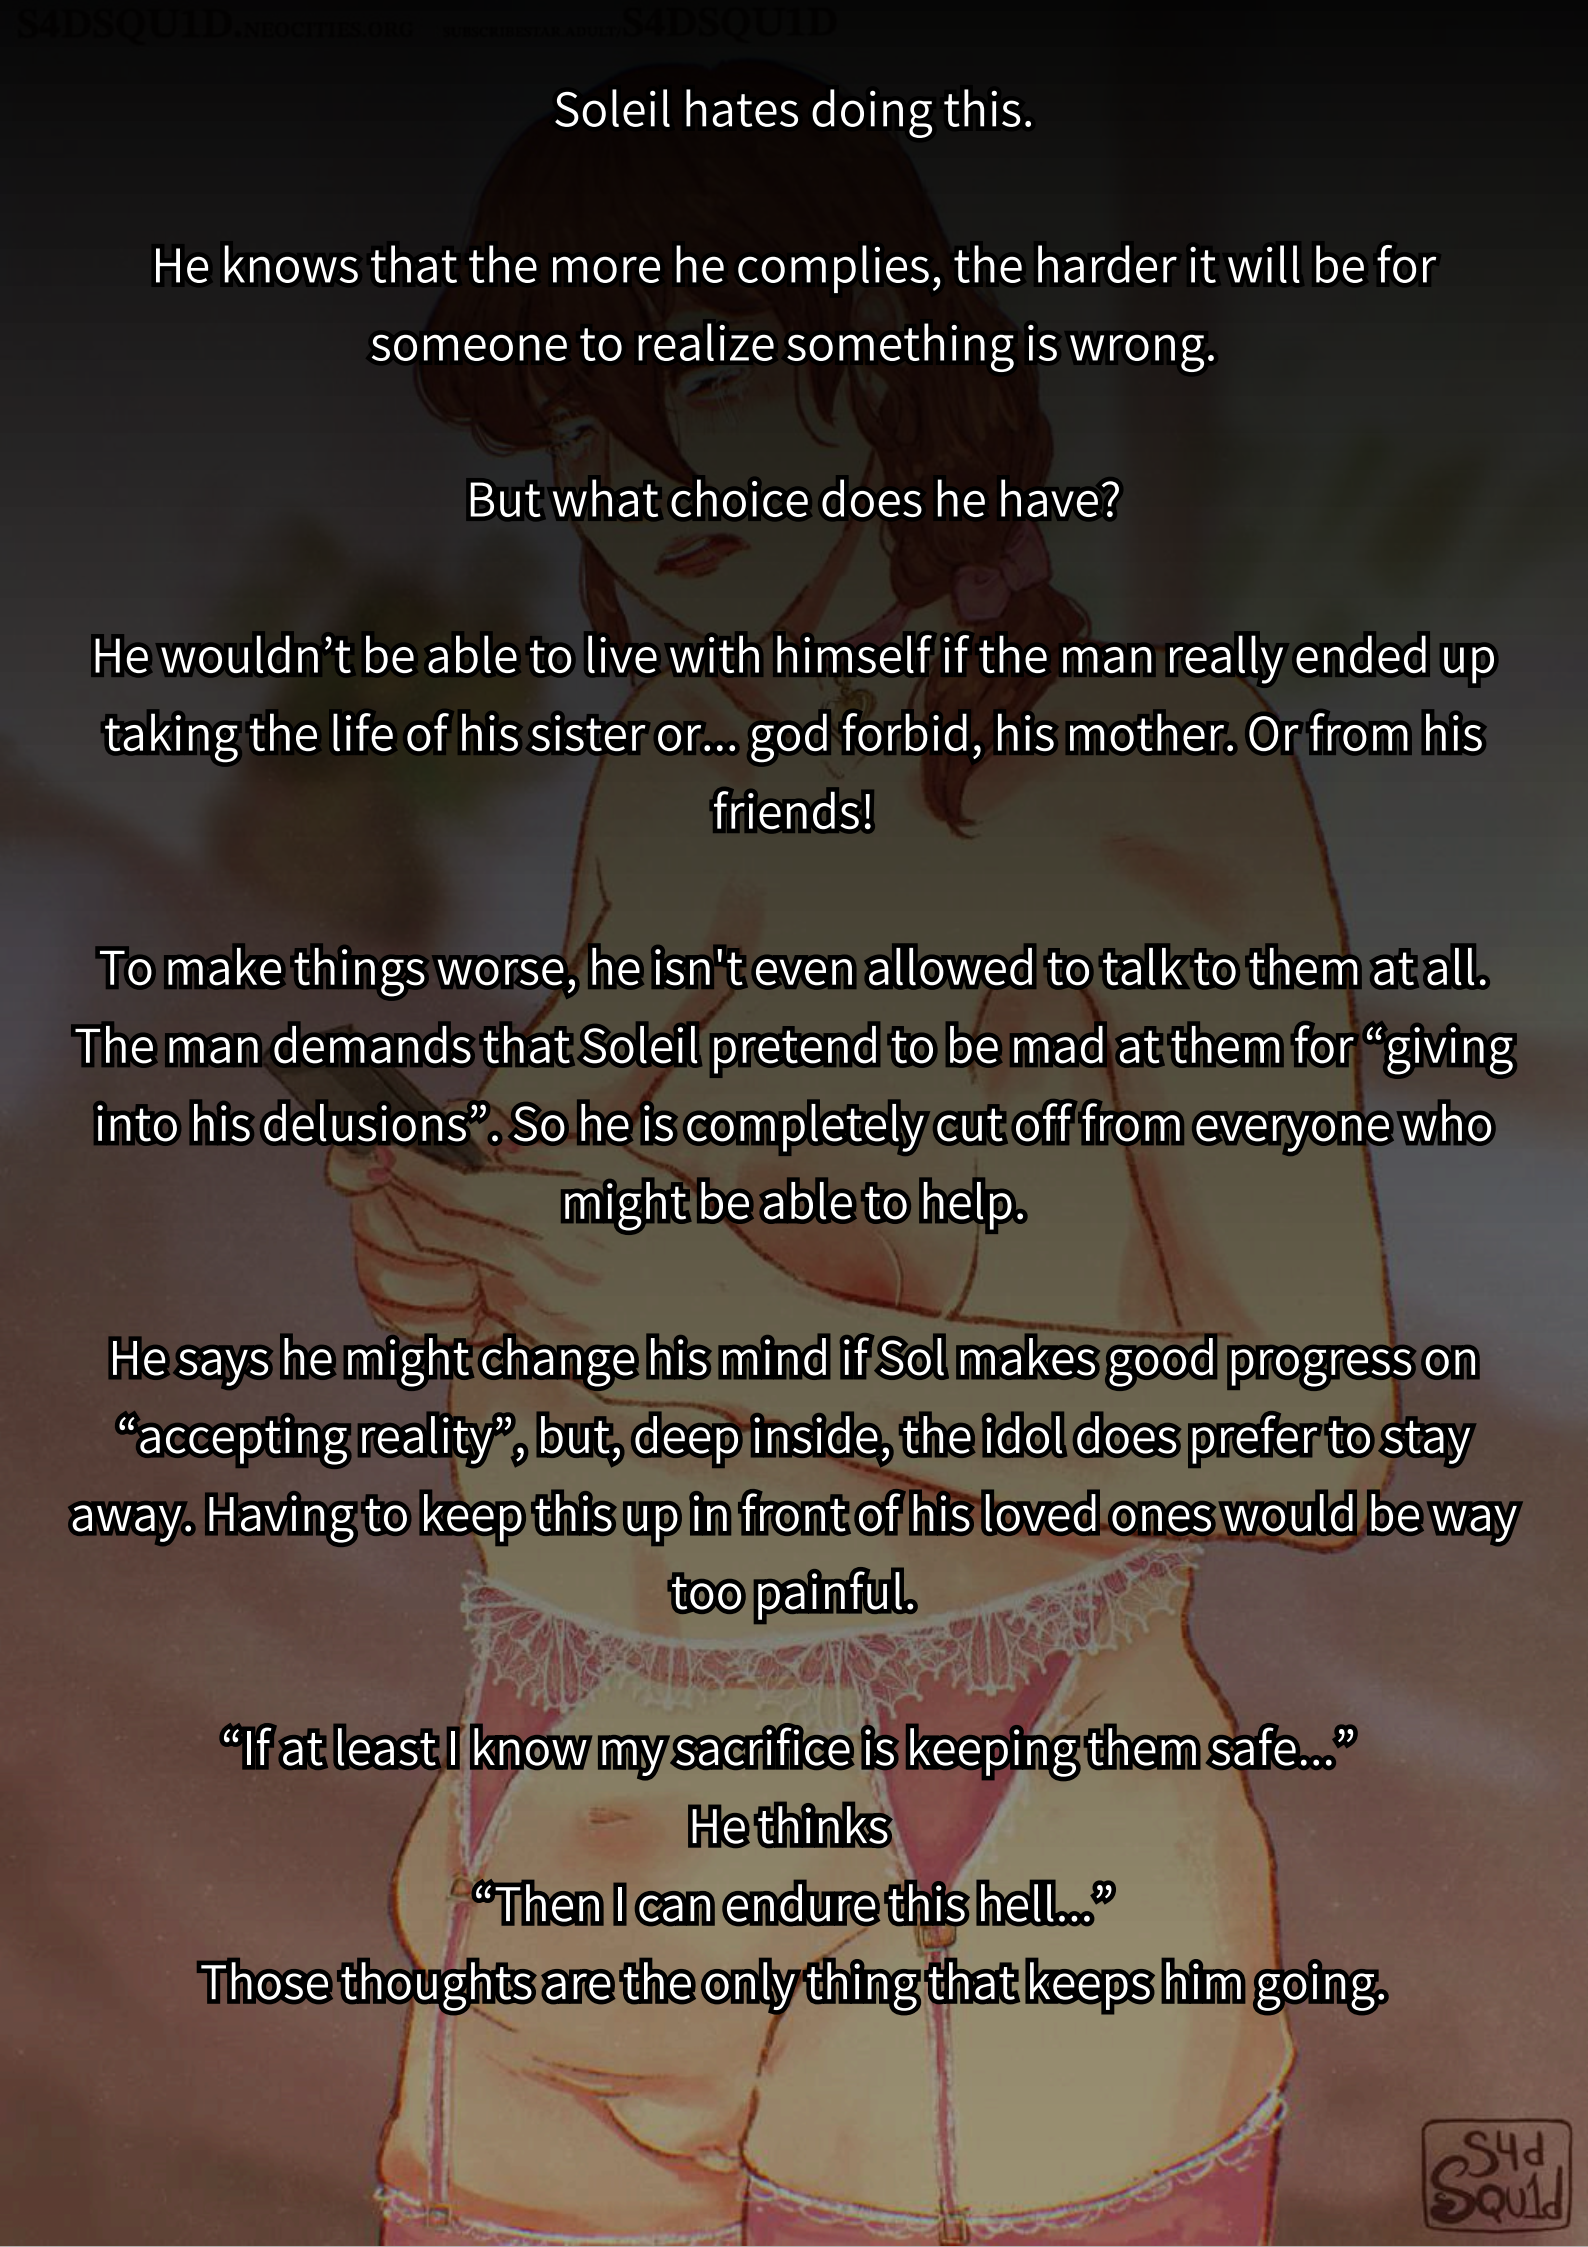

“Hmm, almost! What else?”

“Uhm... that they... shouldn’t... feed my delusions?”

“Yes, good girl!”

“You’re a fast learner!”

Those answers always end up pinned at the top, of course.

Soleil hates doing this.

He knows that the more he complies, the harder it will be for someone to realize something is wrong.

But what choice does he have?

He wouldn't be able to live with himself if the man really ended up taking the life of his sister or... god forbid, his mother. Or from his friends!

To make things worse, he isn't even allowed to talk to them at all. The man demands that Soleil pretend to be mad at them for "giving into his delusions". So he is completely cut off from everyone who might be able to help.

He says he might change his mind if Sol makes good progress on "accepting reality", but, deep inside, the idol does prefer to stay away. Having to keep this up in front of his loved ones would be way too painful.

"If at least I know my sacrifice is keeping them safe..."

He thinks

"Then I can endure this hell..."

Those thoughts are the only thing that keeps him going.

“You’re still crying too much about it though.”

“I’m sorry, I-”

“A woman must not interrupt her husband when he’s speaking, Soleil.”

He looks down and nods.

“Anyway...”

“I think I need to make your re-education more public again.”

“You should host more livestreams, that way, you can show everyone what you have learned!”

“What do you think?”

“It’s a... Uhm... Great idea!!!”

“I’d love to do that...”

“Perfect! We’ll do the first announcement later today!”

The thing Sol had been most terrified of and had been praying to any god that would listen for this to not happen... had finally happened.

“Are you serious about that...?”

“Am I really...??”

“Of course I’m serious!”

“I was worried you’d ruined your womanhood with all that poison you took but I’m glad that is not the case.”

“Yea... I’m... glad as well!!”

“Yea, sure...”

“I assume those are tears of joy, then?”

Sol is now on a timer. If he can’t find a safe way to leave soon enough, he won’t be able to even try to get an abortion.

If he ends up carrying the baby to term, not only will he be forever linked to this terrible man, it will also make escaping that much harder.

Perhaps even impossible.

“Yes!! I’m extremely happy that I get to give you children!!”

“Sol, my dear Sol...
Don’t lie to me.

I’m not stupid, you know?

“I know you’re still clinging to those delusions of being a man.”

“I know you want to escape from me and go back to your fake little life and I know that you’re thinking that having kids with me will make it muuuuch harder.”

“Again, I’m not stupid, I know
what’s in that head of yours.”

“I... I’m sorry... I’ll try harder I swear...”

“Just please, don’t hurt anyone...!”

The kidnapper gently touches Sol’s face. It takes all his mental fortitude to keep himself from recoiling at the touch.

“As long as you obey me and keep trying to change your mindset, I won’t.
I promise you.”

“However, if you don’t... well, I don’t think I need to say it. Do I?”

“No, it’s fine! I’ll obey!! I’ll be a good wife and... and a good mom as well, I promise!! I’ll try my hardest!”

“I’m sure you will, my love!”

“Now, please take off your clothes, dear.”

“It’s time for your permanent punishment again.”

The “punishment” in question was something that had been said in the first live stream.

Sol, at the time, didn’t think he would really take it that seriously, but it seems he had been wrong.

“Uhm... do you really intend to keep doing this ...forever?”

“As I’ve already explained to you, my love, what you did to yourself was a very grave, borderline unforgivable sin.”

“It’s only fair that you’d need to atone for it for the rest of your life, is it not?”

“Yes, of course, dear husband...”
I just thought-

“...Soleil.”

He used his firm voice. In that moment, Sol realizes he had overstepped.

He will have to really humiliate himself if wants to have any hope of fixing this.

“Right... I’m sorry for questioning you...”

“As your wife this is not acceptable behavior...”

“You’re correct, it’s not.”

“I thought you’d have learned not to question me already, but it seems I overestimated your dedication to changing your ways.”

“I’m sorry I disappointed you! It won’t happen again, I promise! I won’t ever question you, dear husband!”

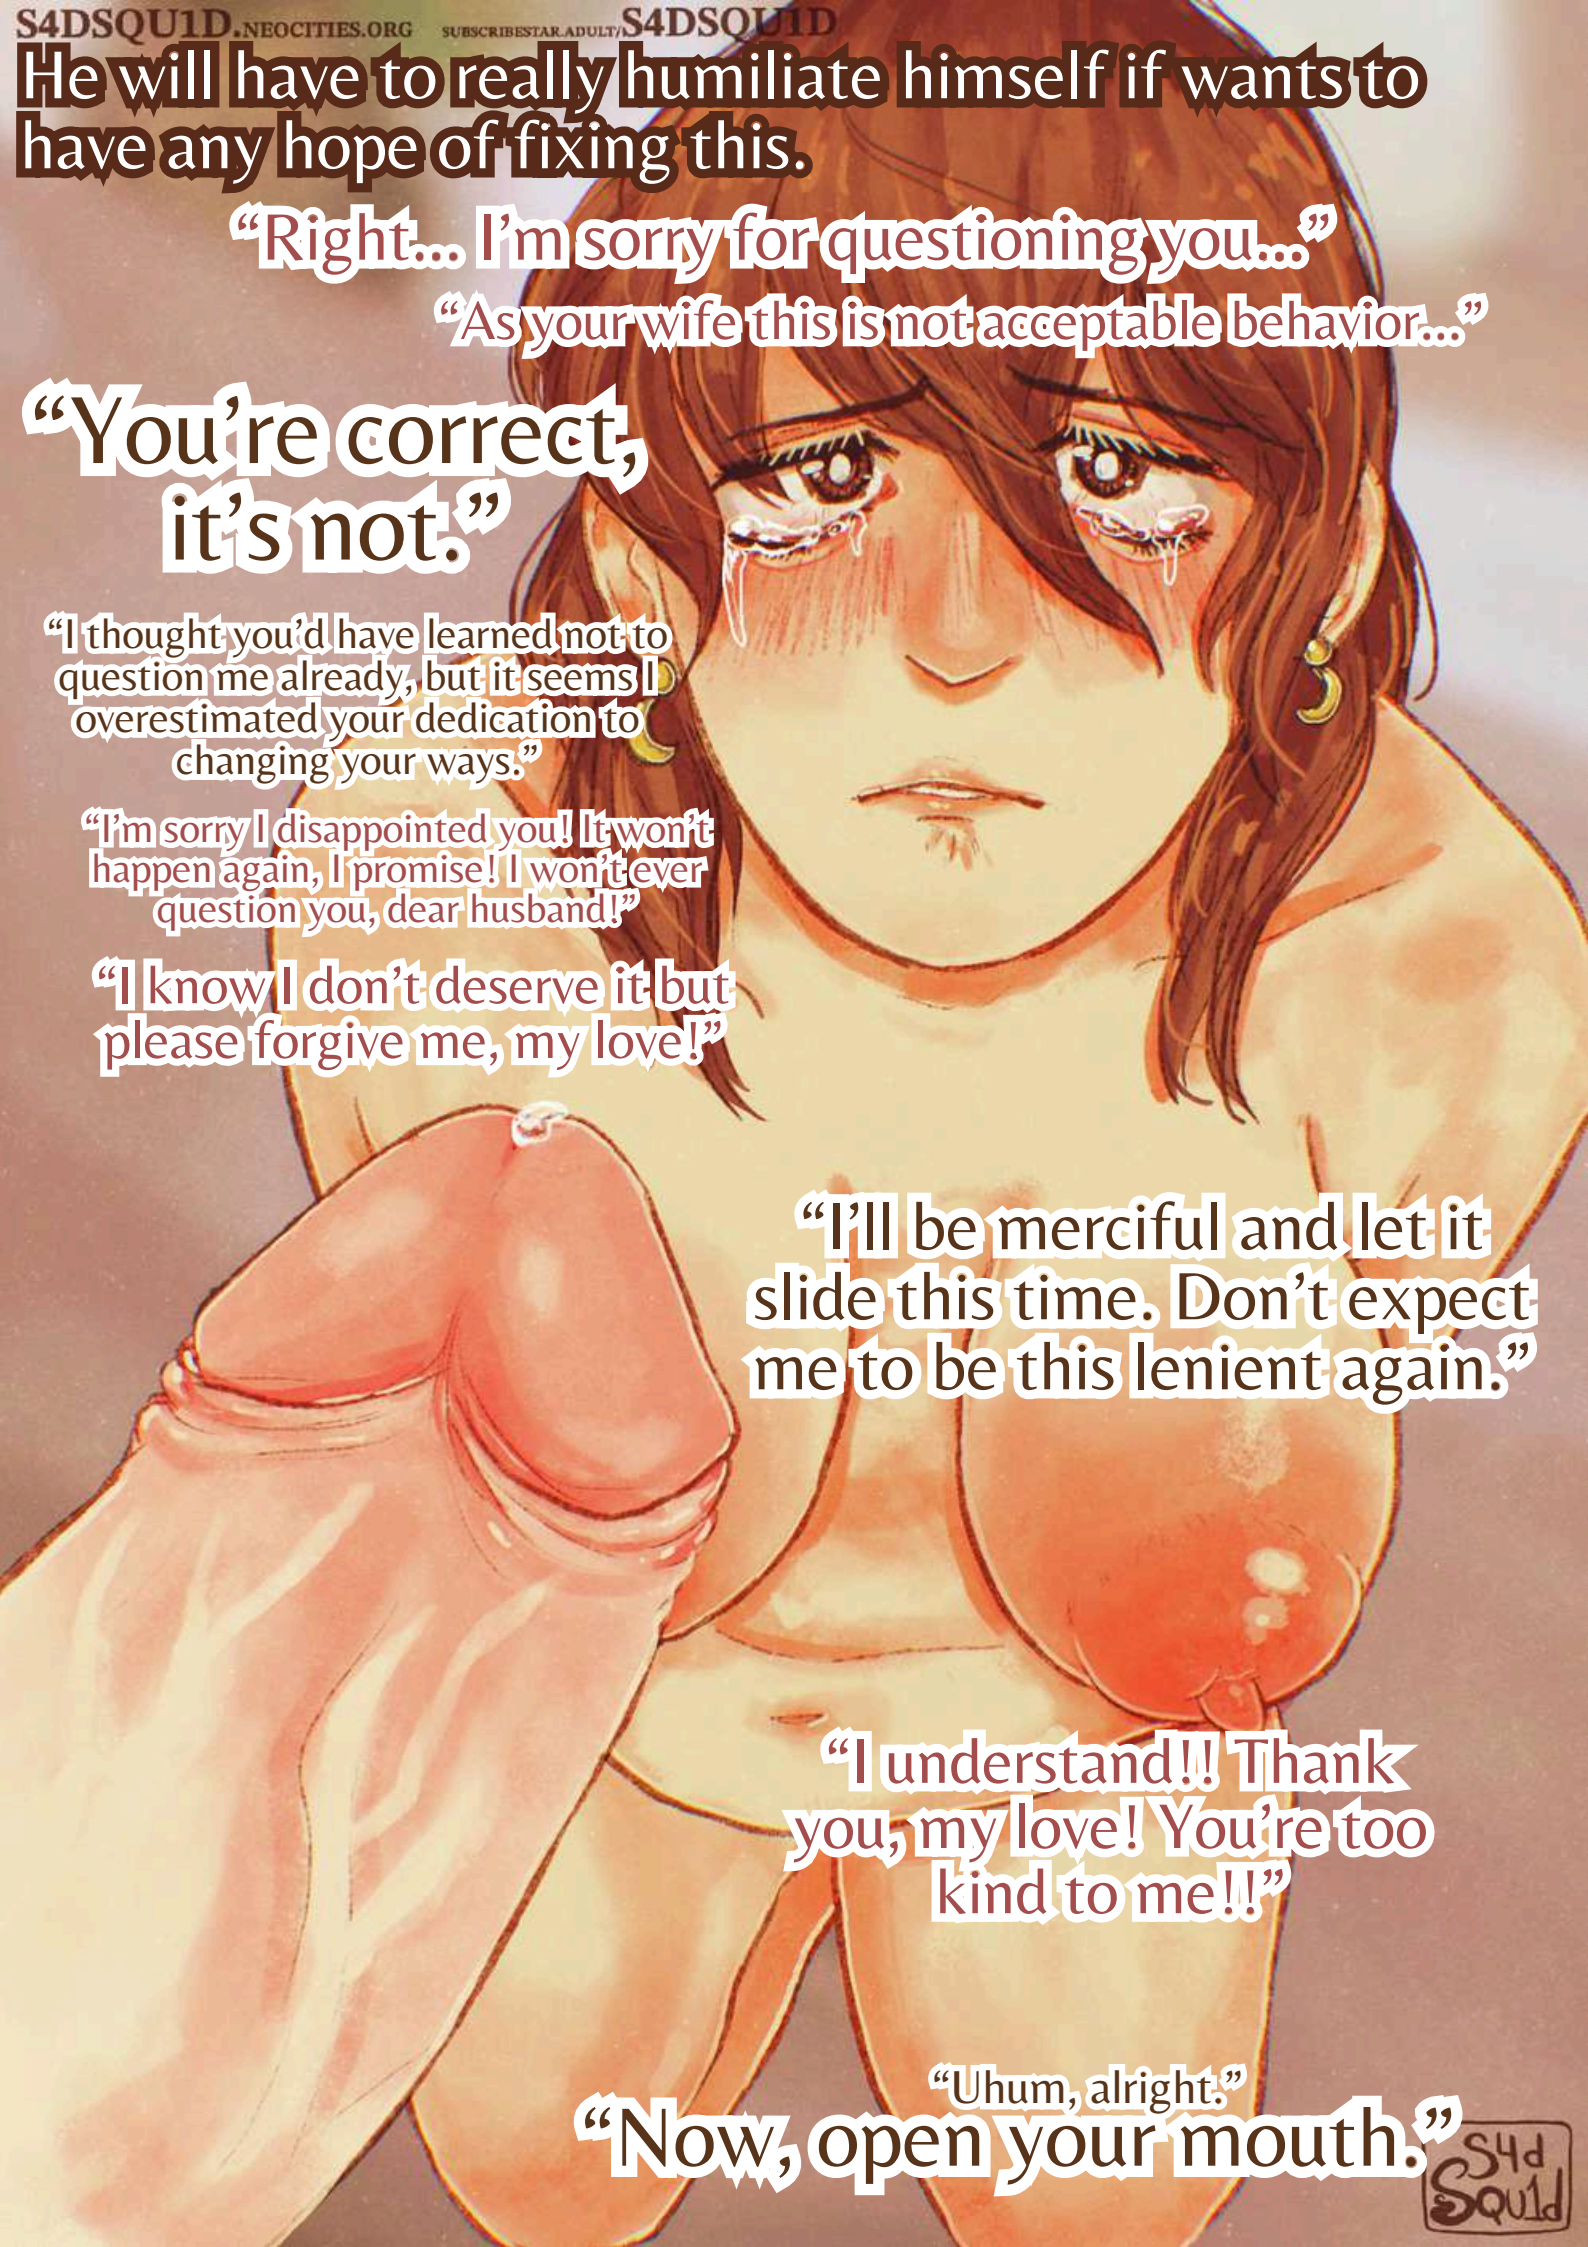

“I know I don’t deserve it but please forgive me, my love!”

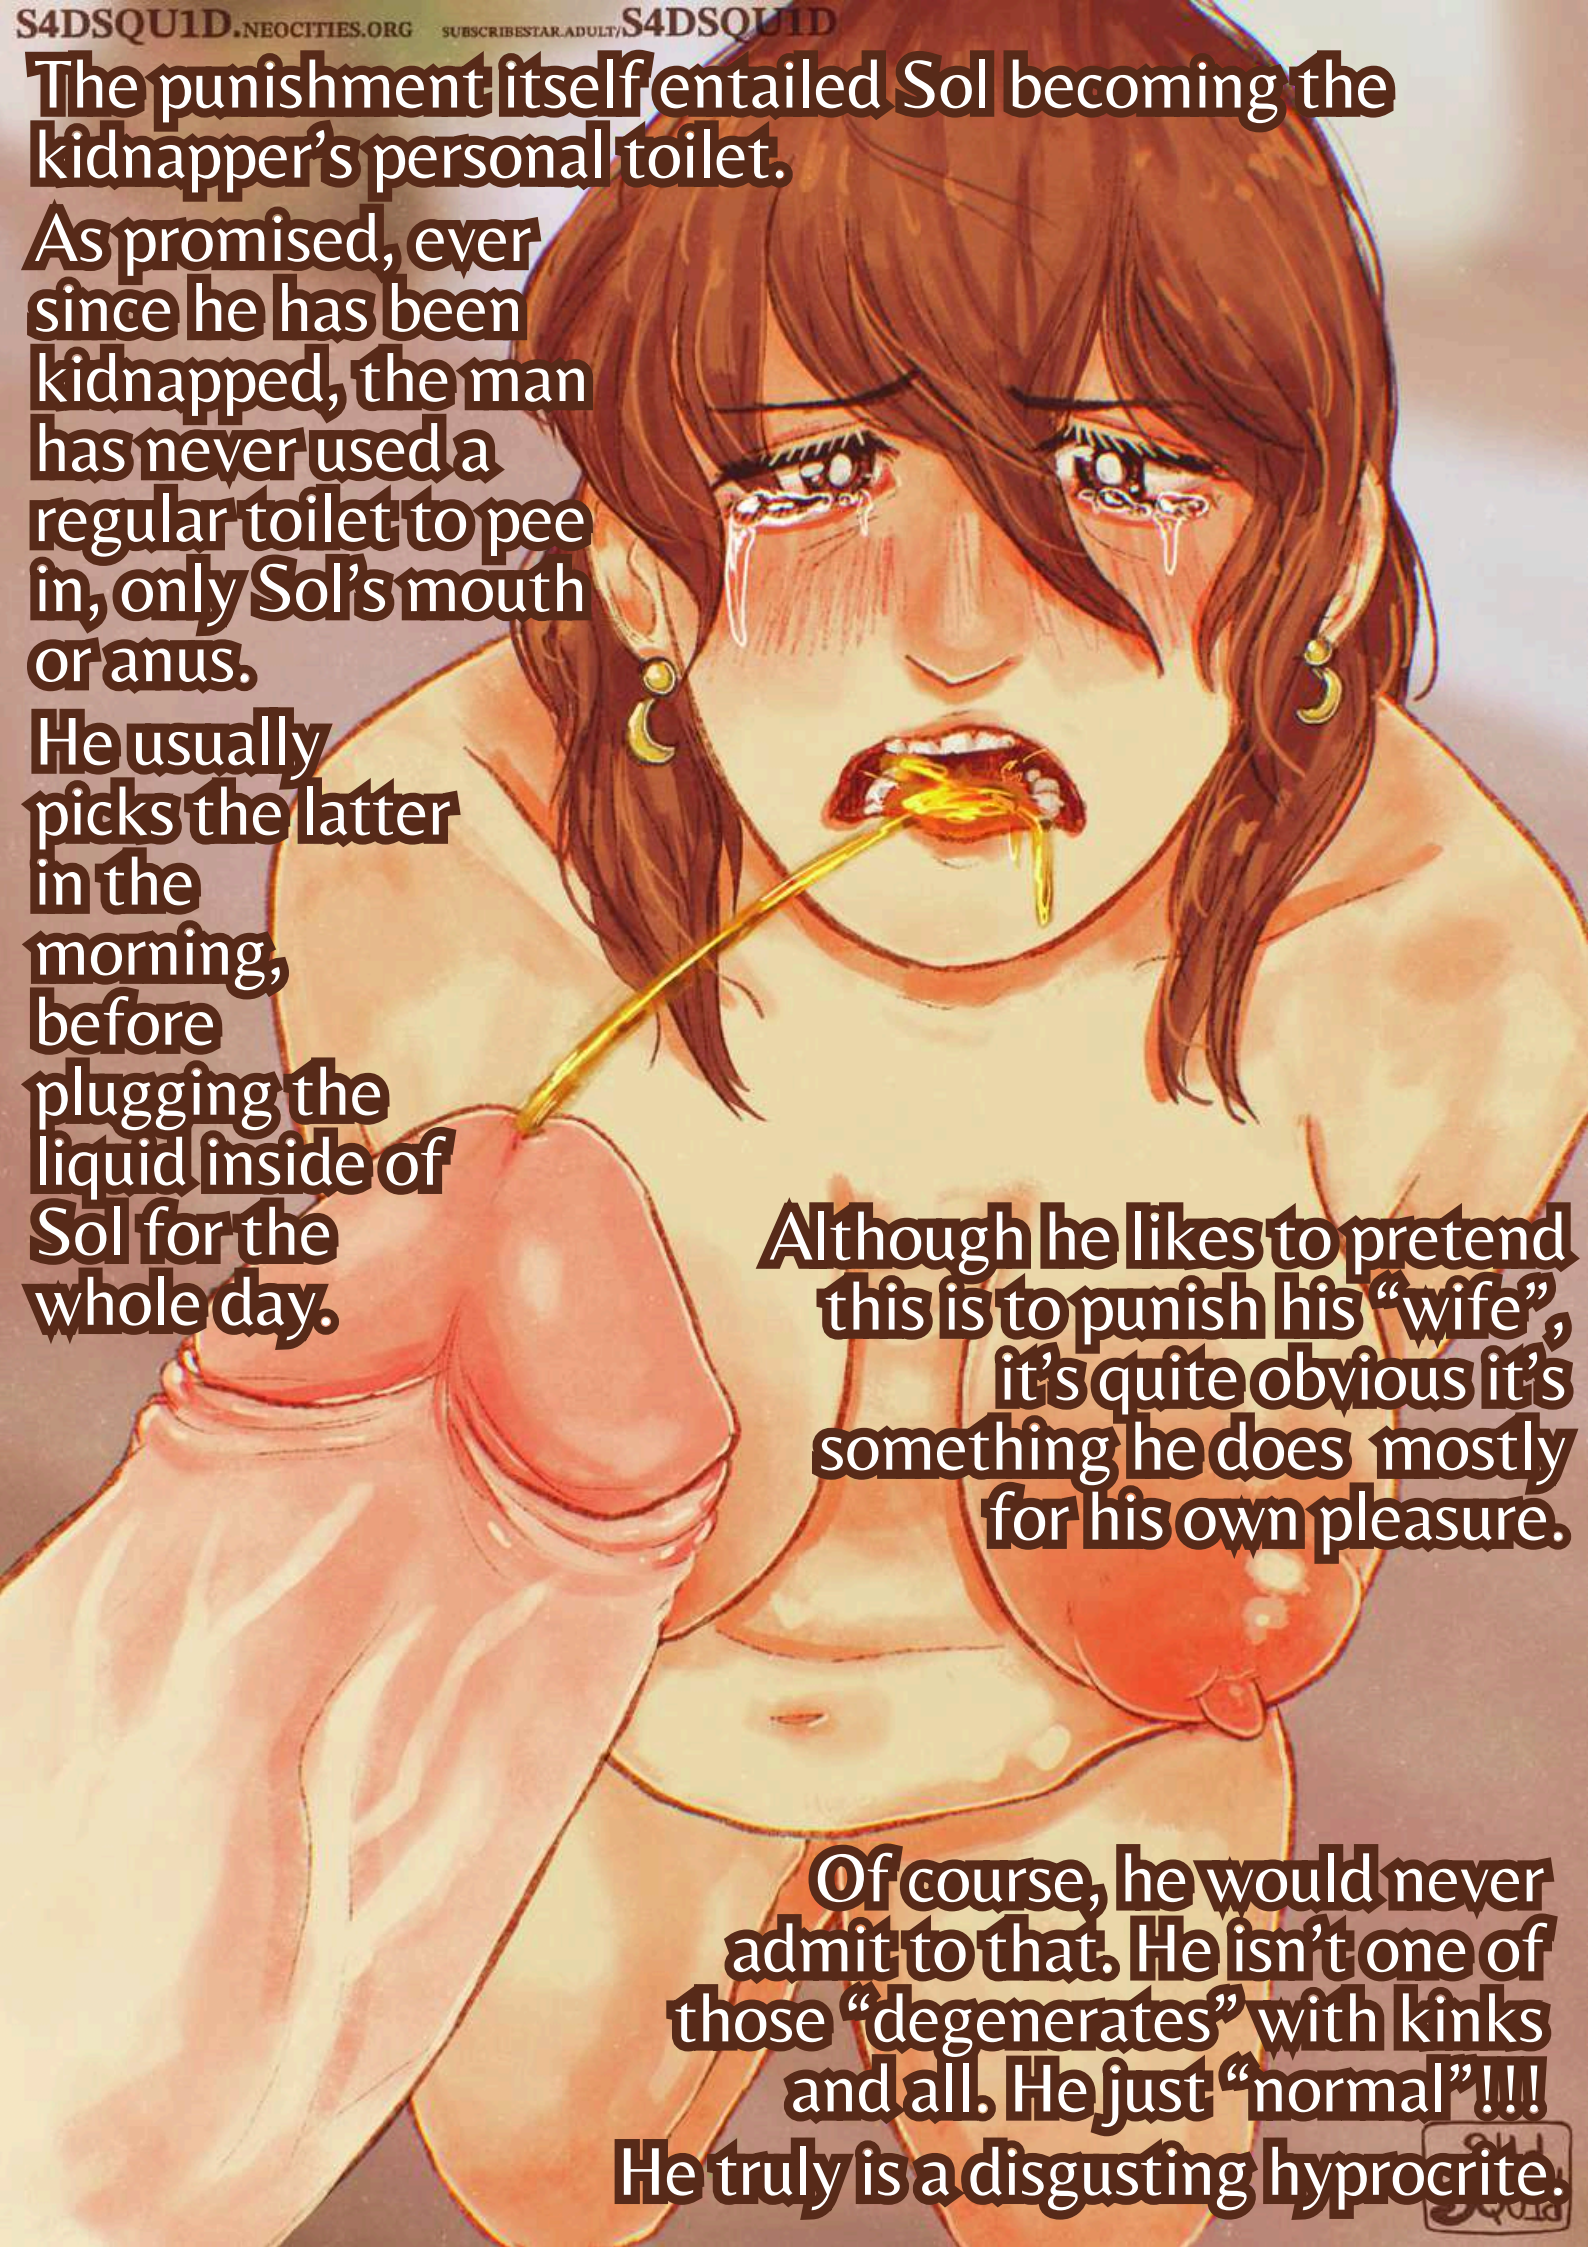

“I’ll be merciful and let it slide this time. Don’t expect me to be this lenient again.”

“I understand!! Thank you, my love! You’re too kind to me!!”

“Uhum, alright.”

“Now, open your mouth.”

The punishment itself entailed Sol becoming the kidnapper's personal toilet.

As promised, ever since he has been kidnapped, the man has never used a regular toilet to pee in, only Sol's mouth or anus.

He usually picks the latter in the morning, before plugging the liquid inside of Sol for the whole day.

Although he likes to pretend this is to punish his "wife", it's quite obvious it's something he does mostly for his own pleasure.

Of course, he would never admit to that. He isn't one of those "degenerates" with kinks and all. He just "normal"!!! He truly is a disgusting hypocrite.

“Don’t swallow it yet.”

“Swirl it in your mouth and taste it.”

Sol nods, having no choice but obeying.

In the beginning, it was a struggle not to gag, but now he has grown used to it.

It is not a comforting thought.

“Good girl.”
“This is awful, isn’t it?”

“I need you to internalize that if you hadn’t tried to go against your nature as a woman, you would never have gone through this, but because you did, now you must endure it for the rest of your life.”

“Which means this is all your own doing. Do you understand?”

Sol nods again. He wonders if this horrible man would ever get tired of repeating himself. He truly hates every single thing about him.

“Good, now swallow and open your mouth for me.”

“Is this good enough, dear?”

“Yes, perfect!”

“Now, what does a good wife say when their husband takes his time to educate her?”

“Thank you for keeping me on the right path, my love...”

“I’d be lost without a good man to guide me.”

“Adorable! I can’t wait until you actually believe those words~”

“Your effort is commendable, though! I know you’re only putting up with this because you care for your family and, to me, that only proves you’re on the right path!”

“What’s more womanly than sacrificing oneself to protect her family, after all?”

“I... I hope you’re right! I can’t wait to finally change my mindset for real!!”

Those words make Sol's heart sink. He has been forced to do this for so long that he's worried he really might end up believing those horrible things.

After spending so much time stuck in this hell, that last sentence makes him doubt himself. Would a man really not care about his loved ones? Is that really how things are?

No, no, that's stupid. Anyone who cares about the people close to them would happily sacrifice their happiness if it meant saving their lives! It has nothing to do with gender, this man is just horrible. At least that's what Sol, or any reasonable person, would think. But in the ex-idol's tortured mind, for each day that passes, his sense of morals, of self and even of reality itself seems to deteriorate.

He catches himself wishing his mind would really break, that he should just give in. Life would at least be less miserable then, wouldn't it?

Somehow, he manages to brush away those thoughts. Even if it's hard, even if he has to lie to the whole world, even he's doomed to the worst fate he can imagine... he doesn't want to forget who he is.

This man might force him to change his actions, his body and even how people perceive him, but he would never, ever get to change his heart.

“Did I do well...love?”

“You were amazing!”

“I didn't even tell you to say those things about being “super fertile”, yet you came with that up on your own!”

“I'm so proud!”

“Well I... I thought you would like if I said that...”

Soleil finally realizes that, if he's going to have to keep this up long term, it would be better to go all the way anyway in his act.

The happier he can make this monster, the less likely he will feel the need to abuse him further. Or at least, it's what he hopes will happen.

“You might think you only did this to please me, but I know that the fact that you even thought about this means that's what you truly think deep inside.”

“I think you're finally starting to get over your delusions for real!”

“I'm glad, my love! I'm so glad you rescued me from my previous life!!”

Time keeps on passing. Days turn to weeks, which turn into months.

Soleil's daily routine doesn't change much. He wakes up, the kidnapper pees inside of him, he leaves for work. Sol stays home with the maids and only gets to leave when accompanied by his "personal assistant". It's she who takes him to get his nails done, to buy new clothes, to his laser appointments and also teaches him "womanly hobbies". Truly, her real job is to monitor Sol while his "husband" is away. Apparently, she is someone who has worked doing actual conversion therapy, which just makes the situation much, much worse for him.

Sol's only time alone is when he gets to bathe, which is also the only time he gets to cry in peace. He is filled with despair every time he looks down and see how much both his belly and breasts have grown, but tries his best to pretend nothing is wrong the whole day.

But he can release it all once he gets in the bathtub.

There, he can finally sob, cry and be sad as much as he wants.

After almost 8 months of this torture, he finally accepts help is not coming. He will have to keep this up forever if he wants his family and friends to stay alive. He will have to birth this man's children (as many as he demands), raise them and keep on pretending to be his wife, all while spewing conservative rhetoric in public.

He would have killed himself if the man hadn't also made it clear that trying would also count as disobedience and would too have consequences for his loved ones. He truly has no way to escape. Not if he wants to keep his loved ones safe.

Soleil has now hit the 28th week of pregnancy, which means he is officially in the third trimester of it.

“Did the pictures turn out alright?”

He has been living with his kidnapper for exactly 250 days.

“Yes, they’re perfect! This lingerie is so cute, did you pick it yourself?”

That means he got pregnant only after a little less than two months into his “new life”.

“Uhm... Debrah thought I would look cute on it...”

He is terrified that this might mean he will end up pregnant again as soon as biologically possible once he kids are born.

“She gives such good advice doesn’t she?”

“Yeah, I’m very glad to have her around!!”

“Well, we are done here, so why don’t you take your bra off? I want to look at your breasts for a bit~”

“Awwn, your boobs have grown quite a lot haven’t they?”

“I bet you’ll make lots of milk!”

“Not only that, it seems I was able to correct your inverted nipples once and for all.”

“I hope that means I’ll have an easy time breastfeeding...”

“Hmm... really, Sol?”

Soleil hates when he does this. It doesn't necessarily mean he's said anything wrong, but he know he wants him to humiliate himself further.

“Well, I will do it even it’s hard, of course!! It’s my job as a mother!!”

“I’m very glad I’ll get to feed my babies from my body like I’m supposed to!!”

“I just meant that... if it’s easy then that just proves further that it’s what I really have been born to do, right??”

“Oh, I see! I’m glad you came to that conclusion!”

“Anyway, take of those panties, I want to see your pretty little cunt as well!”

“Are you ok, my love?”

“You seem upset...”

“Ah sorry, I just hate seeing that ugly growth between your legs.”

“I feel so guilty that I didn't immediately rescue you right after you decided to “come out”.”

“If I had done that, you'd still have a normal, feminine clit. Now I have to deal with this...thing.”

“Well, serves me right for taking so long to intervene, I guess.”

“No...this isn't your fault, dear husband!!”

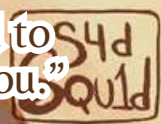

“It was both mine and family's! They should never have taken my delusion seriously and I should never have strayed from the right path!”

“It wasn't your job to educate me, it's my loved ones who failed me! They're the ones to blame for not being harsh when needed and put me in my place!”

“And myself as well for doing such awful things to my body. I must take responsibility for my actions, please don't blame yourself and it's all my fault, dear!”

“Thank you, you're such a good wife Sol. hearing those words from you does make deal with the guilt easier...”

“I do share some of the blame though. As a woman, you can't be expected to make decisions as effectively as a man. I should have been there to guide you.”

Talking badly about his family's always hurt, but he knows if he wants to convince the man of his act, he needs to keep on saying those awful things.

Having to protect and soothe the feelings of someone he despises so much makes the ex-idol want to gag, but that is just another thing he has grown used to doing. He can't believe that monster actually believes he is helping him. He is the delusional one, not him!!!!!! But still, Soleil can't afford to risk challenging him.

So, every day when he wakes up, he puts on a mask and starts to interpret his character: Soleil, retired idol, wife to a radically conservative guy and regretful detransitioner.

But every night before sleeping he repeats these words in his head:
“Am Soleil and I was happy living as a trans man. This person kidnapped me and ruined my life. I'm being forced to act as his wife. I don't truly believe a word I'm saying in public, I'm just doing this to keep my family and friends safe. I wish this man was dead. He is the person I hate the most in the whole world. I will never love him or feel anything other than hate towards him.”

He is terrified that he will really lose himself, that the conversion methods might work. He know it will be less painful if he just gives in but he refuses to do so. His mind is the one thing he still has control over and he will never, ever give it away.

The character is a fake. What is in his heart is not. It's the only way he has found to keep himself sane and not break.

“You like it when I breed you, don't you, honey?”

“Yes! Your cock feels really good!”

“But my favorite thing is knowing my lady parts make my husband feel good!!”

“Aww, sorry I keep repeating myself, but I'm so happy you have become such a perfect little wife!”

“Thanks, love! It's all thanks to your courage and hard work!”

At the very least, it seems the kidnapper now truly believes Sol's words. He isn't sure how to feel about this.

One one hand, that means his family will definely be safe. On the other, if even that man believes him, everyone probably also does too.

It's likely even the most skeptical and even non-bigoted previous fans truly believes what he says on his social media.

Which mean that those who supported him during his transition likely despise him now.

There's no way for them to know he's being forced to do this things, after all. He too would have felt the same had the roles been reversed.

The only "fans" he has left are now the misogynistic, conservative and transphobic ones.

"You know, I've been reading the comments from your streams and it seems there's a common thread among them."

"Uhm... really? What did you notice, dear?"

"You see, Sol, most of your fans still think you got off way too easy from your transgressions. What do you think about that?"

"Well... that's not for me to decide...right?"

"I'm a woman after all, I only follow what my dear husband says..."

"My opinion doesn't really matter. I do what you say, no matter what."

"Good answer, my love!"

"I'm so glad you trust me so much!"

Soleil had hoped that convincing the man of his change would have been enough to avoid any further punishment, but it seems he had been wrong about that.

He has a really bad feeling about this situation, but, as always, cannot voice it.

“So, since you didn’t appreciate the good parts of being born a woman before, it’s only fair that those are taken from you, right?”

“So... have you decided anything yet, my love?”

“Well, my dear Sol, I happen to agree with them.”

“I think you do need some extra punishment.”

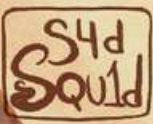

“You have been behaving well, but they’re right, you faced little to no consequences.”

“I... I’m not sure I fully understand what you mean, love...”

“Don’t worry, I’ll sit you down and give you the details soon enough.”

“After that, you’re getting on live stream later to announce your punishment to everyone.”

“O-ok! I completely trust your judgement... dear!”

“My lovely husband is aware you guys think I have not been punished enough for what I put you through, so he has decided to fix that!”

“And I of course, as his faithful and loving wife, fully agreed to it!”

“Well, since I did something terrible to my womanhood, it's only fair I lose some of the privileges that come with being a woman, isn't that right?”

“And also, since you were the most affected ones, it's also up to you to decide how long the punishment will go on for!”

“You see... the only reason women get to cum at all is because the man in their life allow it.”

“In other words, it’s completely useless.”

“It should be treated a reward only granted to submissive, good women if the kindness and patience of their husbands allows it.”

“Although I am working very hard to redeem myself, by trying to change my real sex and go against nature, I clearly violated the first rule.”

“To make sure I follow these rules, I will wear this chastity belt 24/7 until you every single one of you decide to end my punishment.”

“My husband will still remove it to release his seed inside and to clean me up, but other than that, it will always remain locked.”

“There is now a poll on my apology website! You can vote to end or continue the punishment every week!”

“It will only be over once it reaches 100% That means that even if a single one of you feel I haven't redeemed myself, I will keep on being denied sexual pleasure.”

“I fully understand this might mean I will never be released from my punishment, but if that's the case, I will gladly accept it.”

“I committed a grave sin and I have made you all go through something terrible, so if I never forgiven, it's my fault and it's your right.”

“If the poll stays over 50% for continuing the punishment for over a year then I will have my clitoris fully removed!”

“Not only will this make my pussy finally look pretty and feminine once more, it will also make it so I am never able to orgasm again. My dear husband will make sure the surgeon removes all the inner parts as well, so the possibility of me ever cumming afterwards is truly zero.”

“If this happens, there’s absolutely no going back and the punishment will last until the end of my life! My body will never feel sexual pleasure again, only ever grant it to my beloved!”

“My fate is in your hands!”

“I hope I get nothing more than what I deserve for my transgressions!”

“Uhm, wait! There’s one last thing!”

“When my husband said I would become his toilet as a punishment in my first apology live stream he was very serious.”

“As you can see, I’ve been both drinking and holding his pee inside of me daily ever since we got married!”

“We don’t typically show this live since we know some of you don’t like seeing these types of stuff.”

“So rest assured my dear husband is always making sure I never forget the mistake I’ve made. He makes sure I get to actively regret every single day!”

“Thank you for watching and I hope you enjoyed the surprise!”

“Did I...do well, my love?”

“You were perfect!”

“I’m sure you understand why this is important right?”

“Yes I... of course...”

“It’s very upsetting but I understand this is a punishment I must endure for my transgressions.”

“I deeply regret the actions that led to this...”

“But I... Can I just ask a question... love?”

“Of course, go ahead!”

“When you mentioned cleaning... does this mean you’ll have to get into the bathtub with me from now on?”

“Yes! I figured we may as well start bathing together from here on out since I’ll have to clean your cunt every day anyway.”

“You are asking because you’re happy about it right?”

Poor Sol wants to cry. Bathing by himself had been his only safe haven and now it would be taken away. It upset him much, much more than the chastity or even the nullification bit.

He thought he could take every awful thing thrown at him but losing his only safe place... that was too cruel.

“I’m... very glad...”

“I get to...”

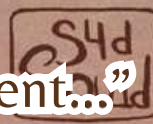

“Spend even more time...with the one I love...”

“I knew this would make you happy!”

“Think of it as a small reward for being such a good sport about your punishment!”

“Thank you! You’re the best husband I could have asked for...”

“Uhm, come here, love, I need to unlock your belt for a moment...”

“Oh, I-”

“How silly of me, I thought you wouldn't-”

“I mean...I'm pregnant already...”

“Well, I did promise I would release every single load of mine inside your cunt, right?”

“I figured if I fuck your ass and just use your pussy when I'm cumming it would reduce any pleasure you'd get while also keeping that promise!”

“This is also needed to make sure you keep getting pregnant with all the kids your body asks for in the future.”

“I need to make sure I don't miss once you are fertile again, you know?”

“Oh! Haha”

“You truly think of everything, don't you?”

Because he has to constantly keep the man's pee inside of him, it means he can't even clean inside of his anus properly before sex.

This makes the prospect of constantly having the man's cock going from his (likely) dirt asshole to his cunt on a daily basis even more gross than usual.

"Well, I hope you're not too upset about the punishment. I do want to educate you but I would hate seeing you cry over this..."

"Don't worry, dear husband!"

"Being able to give you pleasure is and taking care of you and our kids is the only thing I need to be happy as a woman!"

"Cumming, pleasure and having a clit at all are not as important!!!"

“Awwwn, you’re going to make me tear up!”

“Don’t be silly! Crying is for women, isn’t it?”

“You said so yourself!”

“Oh...”

“Hahaha, you got me there!”

“I’ll cry tears of happiness for both of us, don’t worry!”

It seems that no matter what he does, awful things will keep on happening to him no matter what.

And yet... what else can he do but try and play along? At this point, he doesn't know anything else.

“I gotta admit, you look kinda cute with a chastity belt on!”

“And it hides that ugly thing between your legs, so it's even better.”

“Would you be upset if I said I hope they decide to get your clit removed?”

“Of course not, honey!”

“You own me! If you prefer my my pussy without a clit, that is your right!”

“Aawwn~”

“I hope I get to see your pussy become pretty in a year, then!”

Some more time passed and Sol is now almost due.

Playing his "character" has become second nature. He no longer has a safe space to cry in peace but he still repeats his mantra (in his head) before bed.

Seeing his body in the mirror while saying the "daily affirmations" his husband assigned him still fills him with despair, but he has gotten better at concealing it.

He lives in a constant state of disassociation in order to cope.

"I'm very happy I was born a woman"

"I have always been a woman and that can never be changed."

"I love how fertile I am"

"My purpose is to please my husband and be a good mother to all his children."

"I love my husband and I'm thankful for the sacrifices he made in order to fix me!"

"My needs must always come after my husband's wants, and will only granted with his permission."

He tries not to resent the children in his womb. Although they are from the man he hates the most, he knows the babies are not at fault.

But Soleil still catches himself hoping they'd drop dead, then feeling awful for it right after.

His only consolation is that he knows he will have the help of as many babysitters as he needs to raise them. He should be able to walk away if his bad feelings start to overwhelm him. He would not be able to forgive himself if he actually ended up hurting them.

"Is that all, love?"

"Yes, my dear. You can undress now."

"I love how much better you've become at this!"

"Remember when you sobbed between each word? God, that was awful."

"Oh, that was the delusions speaking! I'm glad you made them go away!"

Sol tries not to think about how the kidnapper will educate the kids to think just like him.

He tries not to think about how they would only ever see him as a "mom".

He tries not to feel horrible for his daughter who isn't even born yet but will have a horribly misogynistic father and a "mother" who likely won't be able to protect her from him.

He tries not to think of the monster his son might become if raised with those beliefs.

He knows won't be able to hold his tears in if he thinks about this.

"You can come to bed, you know?"

"Or do you like staring at yourself that much?"

"I was just thinking..."

"Of how my body has changed... permanently, I mean..."

"All because you choose me to be the mother of your kids and put your seed into me."

"The moment it happened, I had no control over it, my body did what it was born to do..."

"It made me realize how futile my...efforts were."

"Efforts to try and pretend to be a man, you mean?"

Soleil is actually thinking about his effort to run away from this horrible situation, but he obviously can't say that.

"Yeah!! I truly was born to be submissive to men..."

"Well, to my husband, at least..."

"Awwn, gosh, you've come such a long way!"

He really doesn't want to see anyone from his previous life, much less his family.

"You know, I've been thinking, once the babies have been born, I think I'll let you reconnect with your family!"

"What do you think?"

The only reason he can keep the farce up is because he is completely disconnected from anyone he cares about.

"My...my family?"

Continuing to pretend to be this guy's wife in front of his mother would be too much...

"But they...they enabled my delusions! Aren't they bad for me?"

Soleil knows it's futile trying to convince his kidnapper once he sets his mind to something.

"I believe an important step to your complete re-education would be to hold them accountable? Don't you agree?"

Soon there will be no aspect of his life this man hasn't ruined.

"Also, I'm pretty sure they only "supported" you because they were scared you would cut them off."

"But... wasn't it... cowardice on their part?"

No, that can't be right!

His family wouldn't lie to him like that would they? Would they really turn on him so easily?

Could he have sacrificed everything to protect people who would do such a thing to him??

"Yes, it was cowardly, but everyone deserves second chances don't they?"

"Plus, I'm sure you mom will be so happy to finally have her daughter back! And to meet her grandchildren as well!"

“Well if...that’s what you want...”

“I’ll meet them again...”

“I’ll talk to them first once you’ve recovered from the birth, ok?”

“I wouldn’t want you to needlessly get yourself stressed out at such a time.”

“If everything goes right, we’ll arrange to meet together! We’ll bring the kids as well. Sounds good?”

“That would be...perfect!!”

“Well, I’m sure you have truly changed but just to be sure...”

“Those “promises” still stand ok? Don’t try to ruin everything we’ve achieved so far.”

“Don’t forget you’ll have the kids to be mindful of as well. Their future is also in your hands!”

“I would not dream of that, my love!”

He knows he will lose his friends if he tries to reach out like this. They will never tolerate someone who spreads so much bigotry.

He hopes he will lose his family too. He doesn’t want them to accept this. They can’t!

...But what if they do?

Just a few weeks later:

“So... I threw my life in the trash to save these two??? AND THEY WERE IN ON IT????? And now I can't even try run away anymore!”

“I have no support net, my family betrayed me, my friends all hate me and think I turned into a disgusting bigot and if I kill myself I'll let my poor kids be raised by these monsters!!”

“I'm now truly trapped with him... forever!!”

“Thank you so much for fixing my daughter, sir!”

“I didn't like the way you exposed her intimacy like that at first, but I'm glad it worked out!”

“A bit of embarrassment and year without her were a very small price to pay!”

“Aww don't worry, Ms. XXXXX!”

“I was only able to get ahold of her because you helped me with information and covered for us all this time!”

“I'm genuinely sorry dealing with so much of the media and legal aftermath fell onto your shoulders.”

“Oh, don't worry about that! Knowing my little sister is safe and being taken care of by a decent man is enough compensation!”

“I made sure to take care of most of the problems so our mother wouldn't be burdened.”

“Mother...!! Carly...!! I was worried sick about you two! I got a bit mad at him for not telling me about all of this sooner but... I'm... glad... hahaha! You were... really helping him all along, then? You and sis?”

“Yeah... Sorry it seems harsh Sol, but when he reached out to me and said he could give my daughter back I couldn't say no, you know?”

“I was devastated when you said you wouldn't give me grandkids, but that I could deal with. But you poisoning yourself, ruining your career and mutilating yourself just to pretend to be a man? It was too much for me, sweetheart.”

“But I was scared of losing you, so I never said anything...”

“I'm so sorry I made you feel this way, mom! This is really all my fault!”

“I'm happy to know my family always had my best interest at heart!!!!!!”

THANK YOU FOR READING!

Author's note:

Genuine question, did any of you see the plot twist coming from a mile away or did I manage to go unnoticed until i started in twisting the knife into your (metaphorical) chests? LOL well, I hope you enjoyed your periodic horror story that is somehow weirdly horny as hell. Oh wait, that's just 90% of my work. Nevermind.

I'm sure I'm not the only one that suffers from paranoia that your family and/or friends are just faking support and would stab you the back at the first opportunity. I know it's not a very healthy thing to think, but it's hard to with how much transphobia I see on the daily, sometimes said by people I care about. Rationally, I am aware most are not, sadly, rational thought is not always enough to get rid of unwanted paranoia. I know for kink stories things are played up and exaggerated, and i think that's what makes it cathartic to write. I grab those scary feelings and turn into a weird, horny mockery and it makes me feel better. To put it bluntly, it helps me put into perspective how fucking stupid my brain is acting XD.

As a last thing, I need to explain a very tiny retcon from the previous set. With the way I phrased things on the first one, it kinda sounded like "Sol" was Soleil's deadname and that "Soleil" was his chosen name. Yes, It was on purpose but I hadn't realized how little sense it made considering all the other Aus where "Sol" is just Soleil's nickname and how annoying it would be to write a character with no possible nickname. So uhm, I decided it would make more sense if Sol just didn't have a deadname at all. Soleil is not a very gendered name (it seems to be more common for girls but has been historically used for girls and boys according to my 5 minute google search) so it would make sense his parents would name him that, but I also think it sounds neutral enough that he would genuinely like the name and not want to change it even after transitioning. I know it's a relatively small detail but I don't want people to think I'm deadnaming my own character as the narrator, LOL
