I once fell in love with a girl who was both lovely and pretty, but she wasn't up to standards when it came to her being "wife material". In fact, she was so far gone she truly believed she was a man. Seeing her go down this path physically hurt me, as I loved her too much to just let destroy herself like that.

Lesser men would have let the whole thing go, leaving her to whatever horrible fate the path the following would lead. But not I, no. I truly loved that girl and I knew I was the only one who could save her, so I took it upon myself to mold her into a perfect wife and ideal woman.

I knew she would hate me for it at first, women rarely know what is best for themselves, but with those that have been tainted by feminism or the gender cult, it's even worse. Her cruel words and defiant looks stung, I won't lie, but my mind was focused on the future we would soon build together.

Just like I had predicted, she is not only thankful that I interfered when I did, but also ashamed of how she acted.

It took just over a couple of years of proper re-education for that girl I had fallen in love with to finally turn into a perfect wife, an amazing mother and a role model of a woman.

And I have proof of that, in the form of plenty of pictures I have taken of my dear wife during this time!

Here are some of the lessons Soleil has learned during this process of re-learning her place!

All of her "personal" choices are made with her husband's opinion in mind.

She knows her breasts must always be either fully exposed or, at least, covered as little as possible.

I let her cover up a bit more if she's with the kids.

This rule is especially useful for girls who really hate her breasts, like Soleil. I'm sure this is what really cured her!

She chooses clothes that highlights her feminine features.

Sol used to be quite shy and not want to walk around the house with such revealing clothes, but now she does because she know it makes her husband happy!

She never looks disheveled, even if her husband isn't there.

Soleil also works out and takes care of her eating habits in order to maintain a figure that I find most pleasing.

She always wears make-up and looks pretty.

Soleil is not a big fan of it, but since I think she looks prettier like that, she happily obliges.

Lesson learned: She must always look her best, trying her hardest to adhere to her husband's preferences regarding her appearance and general presentation.

Before

Knowing how much I like them, she has learned the best ways to use them to please me even further.

Each new pregnancy increase her breast size and she is thankful for that!

After

She understands the purpose of her breasts and now treasures them.

Every day, she stands in a mirror, cradles her breasts and says how much she loves them! It was an exercise from the early days of her re-education which she still likes to re-visit!

They're now quite big and heavy, but to me, it just makes her more beautiful. I love how motherly she looks now!

She is extremely fertile!

Due to the back to back pregnancies and her dedication to feed out kids as naturally as possible, she has not stopped lactating since the first two were born.

Keeping up with proper breastfeeding diet restrictions is not pleasant for her, but she does it anyway. She has learned to prioritize her family!

Lesson learned: She must treasure her breasts, both as a way to feed her husband's children (which is her duty to carry and raise for her husband) and to provide her husbands sexual relief.

I decided the only proper punishment would be to take away her clitoris and, as consequence, her ability to reach an orgasm.

She should never look disheveled, even if her husband isn't there.

It's a completely useless organ and it's removal wouldn't affect her womanly duties

She gracefully accepted her punishment for the mistake of trying to not fulfill her role as woman

This punishment was also useful to teach her an important lesson: Female sexual pleasure does not matter.

She is very protective of her belly and her babies.

With or without her clitoris, she can get pregnant, raise our children and take care of all my needs.

If a man doesn't have a penis, however... She got what I was getting at quite fast! She is very smart!

Even when heavily pregnant, she does not slack in any of her duties!

To make sure the lesson stuck, I locked up her pussy and started using just her ass!

If she's already pregnant, it makes sense I get to choose the her tighter hole to use, right?

Also, pregnancy just makes her prettier every time!!

Lesson learned: Sexual pleasure and release is a right for men and a privilege for women. A privilege she permanently lost when she rebelled against her true nature as a proper woman.

She accepts any order I give her, carrying it out without question

Even if it's uncomfortable or even gross, she knows my word is law because I am the man of the house.

She is very humble, always asking if I'm pleased with her or not, never assuming.

She is aware of the grave sin she committed when she defiled her body with hormonal poison and gracefully accepts the punishment she must endure for that.

She knows this punishment will last all her life, but she doesn't dare to complain.

She does her absolute best to fulfill my requests I wanted to see her hair longer and she has been taking such good care of it that it's now down to her butt!

She knows she deserves and wants to atone. She also thanks me for disciplining her!

Even since we started living together, I have yet to use a urinal. I only pee inside of her ass or mouth.

That is her punishment. It will remind her of how she soiled herself.

Lesson learned: Although some transgressions can be forgiven, they cannot be forgotten. She must trust her husband to discipline her properly, readily accepting any punishment with grace.

She is a quick learner and is eager to please.

In just a couple of months, she has trained herself to pleasure me with her mouth exactly the way I like it.

She takes care to always look good when doing it too.

She always swallows and cleans everything before putting my pants back on.

When I need to relieve myself, she easily opens up her throat so I can comfortably pee.

If anything leaks, she cleans with her tongue, as previously instructed. No need to even tell her to.

She never says no. If I want a blowjob I will get a blowjob.

That is because she understands her place.

She practically worships my cock!

This used to be one of the things she hated the most, but now she always has a happy face on when my cock is in her mouth!

She knows my cock is what makes me a man, same as her pussy makes her a woman!

Lesson learned: The difference between a penis and a vagina, which apparently she didn't know.

She tries her absolute best to be a good mother to our 6 children!

I really have a beautiful family, don't I?

My life is only this perfect because I decided to make it this way!

And most importantly, I didn't give up on the love of my life just because she strayed from the right path, I guided her back into it!

I know it's exhausting, especially with how easily she gets pregnant, so I make sure she has someone to help with that!

That's Debrah!

She was Sol's re-education therapist, but is now a good friend and helps with the kiddos

To ease her burden a bit more, aside from cooking and taking care of the children, she doesn't have to do any chores, I pay professionals to take care of that.

I want my wife to focus on our family, after all!

The kids are rather energetic, but they're very sweet and gentle.

She is doing a good job raising them!

She even picked some of their names! Can you guess which?

Aww now I feel like spoiling her a bit, she's putting so much effort into our family!

I think I'll get her some flowers and a new dress~

Lesson learned: Fight for your dreams! Don't give up on them just because the path seems harder!!

THANK YOU FOR READING!

Author's note:

this is all i have to say

in case this is not clear (since this is all written in kidnapper's pov), sol still hates his guts and still hates the situation he is. he is just both a good actor and has grown used to his own misery. poor guy
