Soleil is one of many angels who were betrayed by their own people and sold off to demons to serve as breeding stock.

Demons can't reproduce on their own, so they resorted to kidnapping angels to fulfill this need. Of course, this wasn't taken kindly by them, so a war broke out.

Eventually, they reached an agreement. If they willingly sent a certain amount of angels their way, the demons would leave the rest of them alone.

And that's how poor Soleil ended up as merchandise.

He used to cover himself all the way from his wrists to his ankles, so being exposed and with his legs forcibly spread open is quite distressing for the angel.

This is not helped that the fact that the collar on his neck magically weakens his muscles, so he can't even struggle.

Eventually, after what seemed like an entire day, someone does take interest in him and decides to test him out

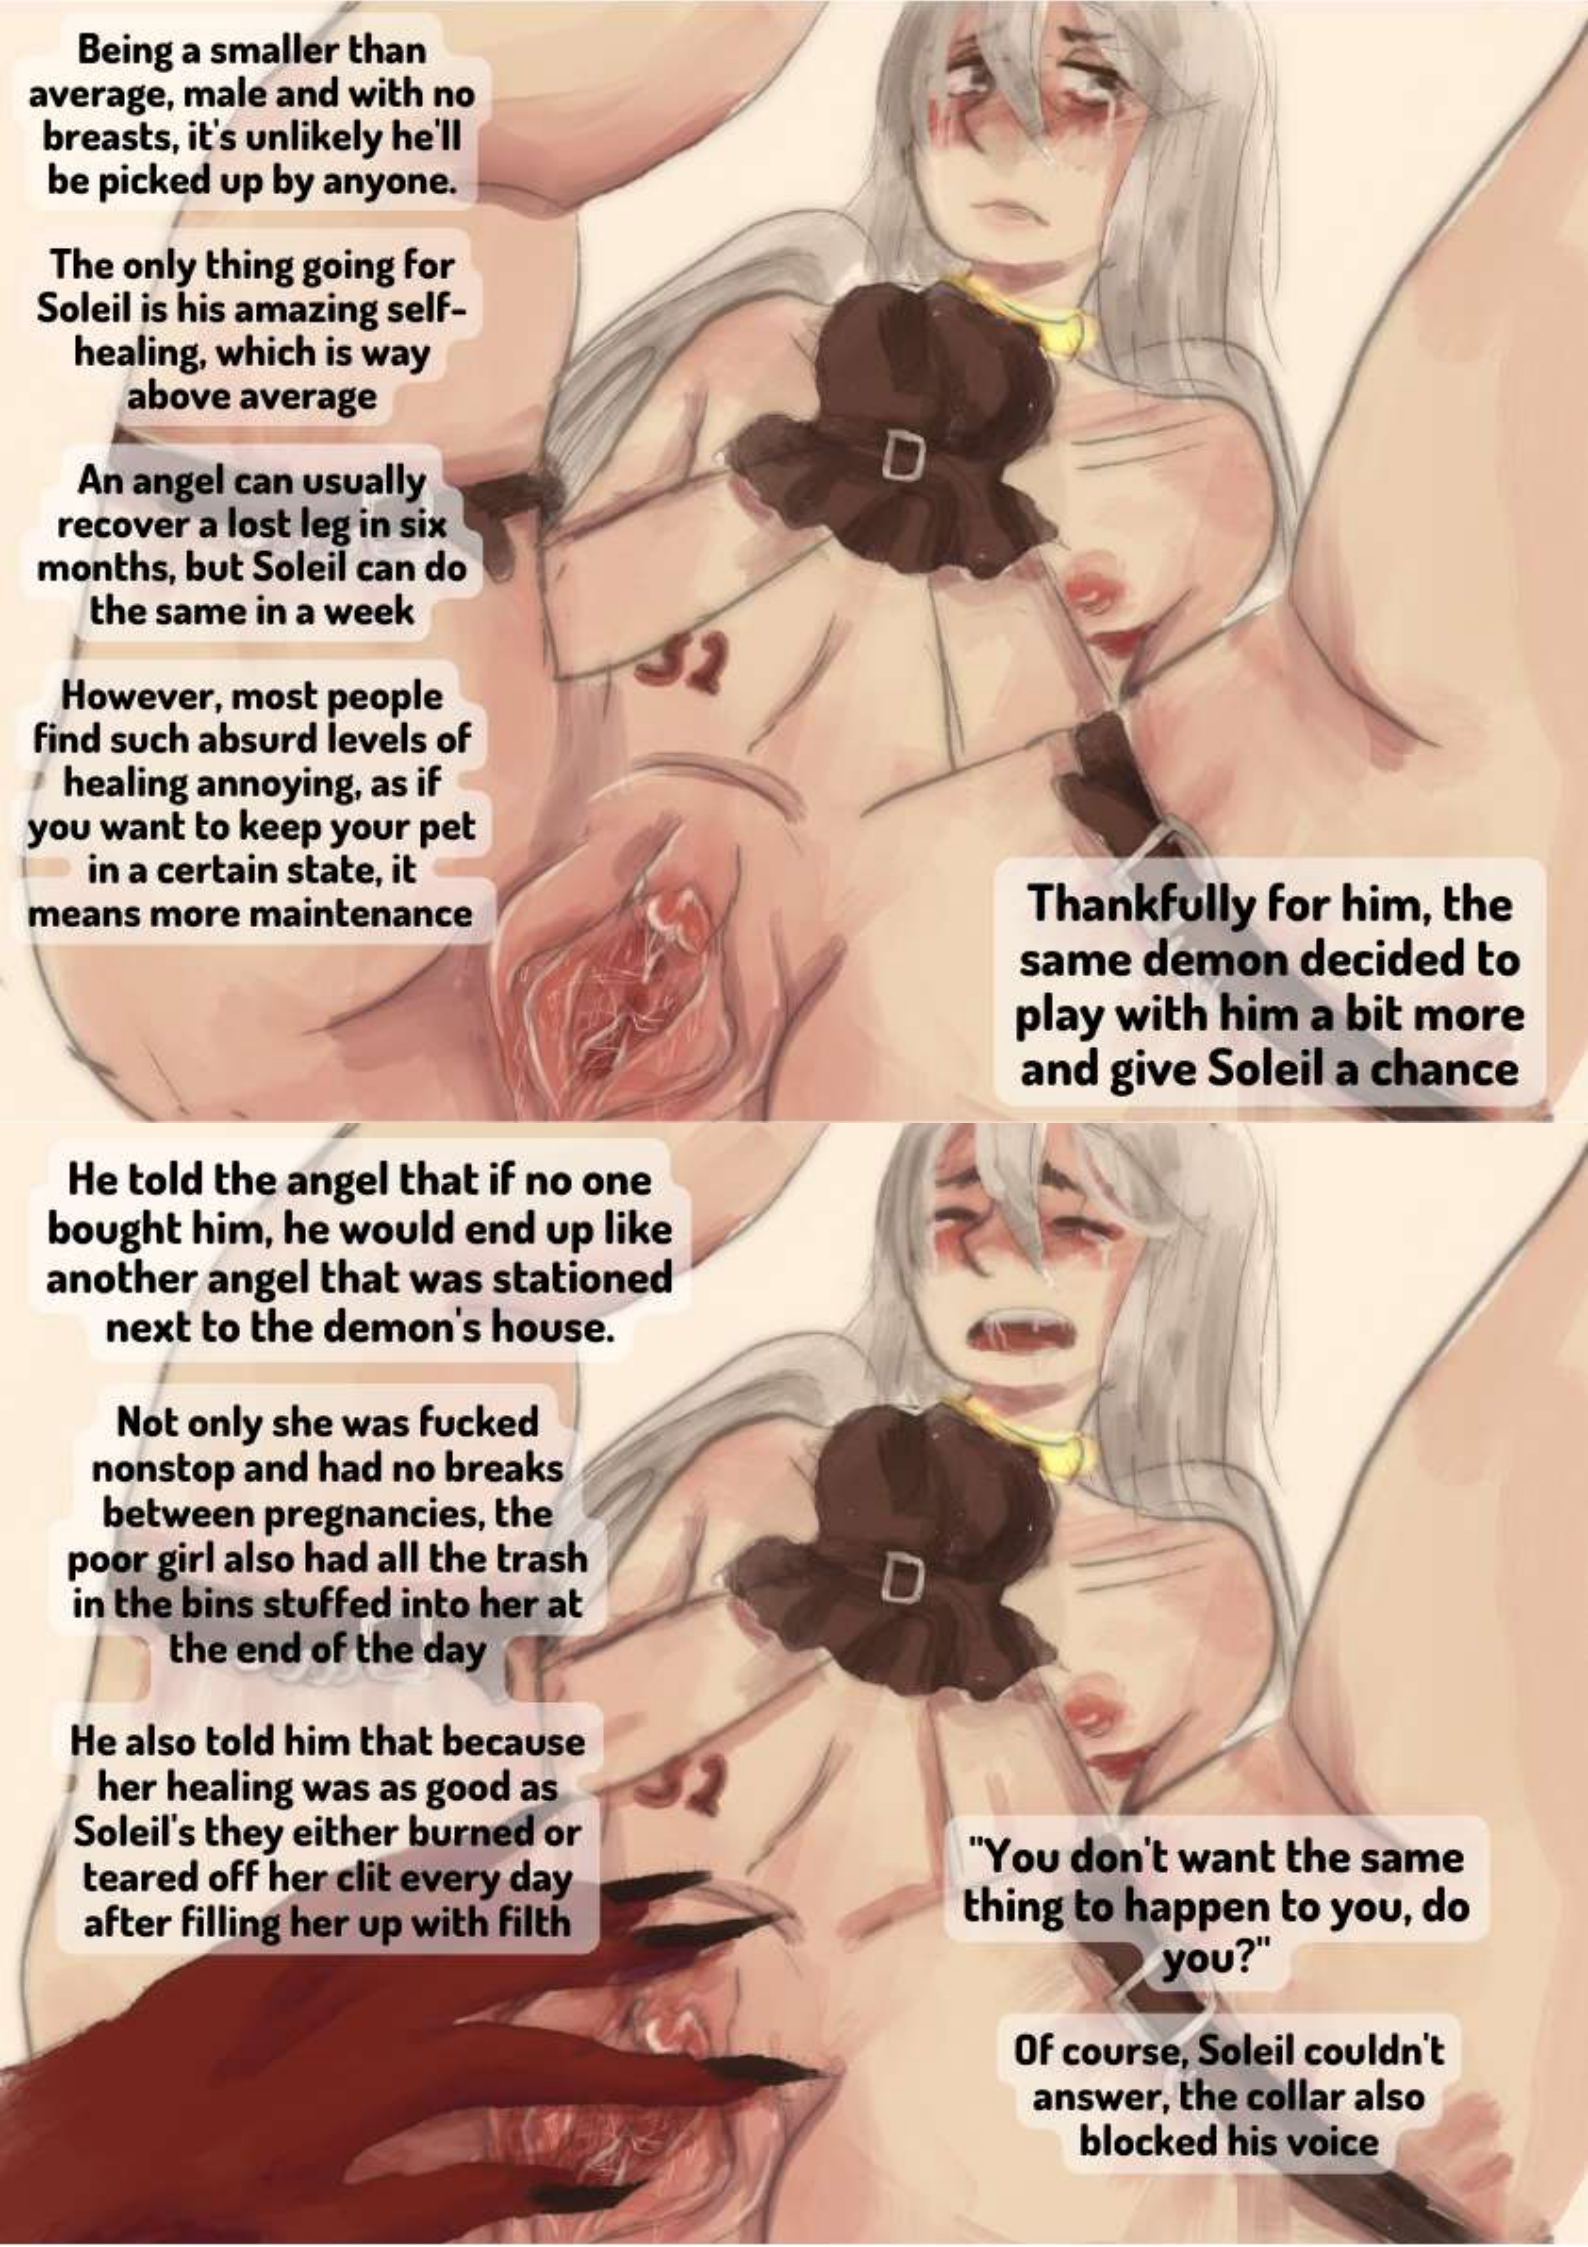

Usually most demons keep one or two angels as personal pets.

They're pretty easy to care for since their self-healing abilities are good enough to restore any damage done to them, including regrowing limbs and organs if needed

He doesn't know it yet, but if he doesn't get sold, he will be assigned to the public relief system, which is just a fancy way of saying he'll be stationed at a local restroom to be used by anyone

Pet angels are readily accessible this day and age, so the public ones are only ever used by delinquents and leftovers of society, often in the worst way imaginable.

Being a smaller than average, male and with no breasts, it's unlikely he'll be picked up by anyone.

The only thing going for Soleil is his amazing self-healing, which is way above average

An angel can usually recover a lost leg in six months, but Soleil can do the same in a week

However, most people find such absurd levels of healing annoying, as if you want to keep your pet in a certain state, it means more maintenance

Thankfully for him, the same demon decided to play with him a bit more and give Soleil a chance

He told the angel that if no one bought him, he would end up like another angel that was stationed next to the demon's house.

Not only she was fucked nonstop and had no breaks between pregnancies, the poor girl also had all the trash in the bins stuffed into her at the end of the day

He also told him that because her healing was as good as Soleil's they either burned or teared off her clit every day after filling her up with filth

"You don't want the same thing to happen to you, do you?"

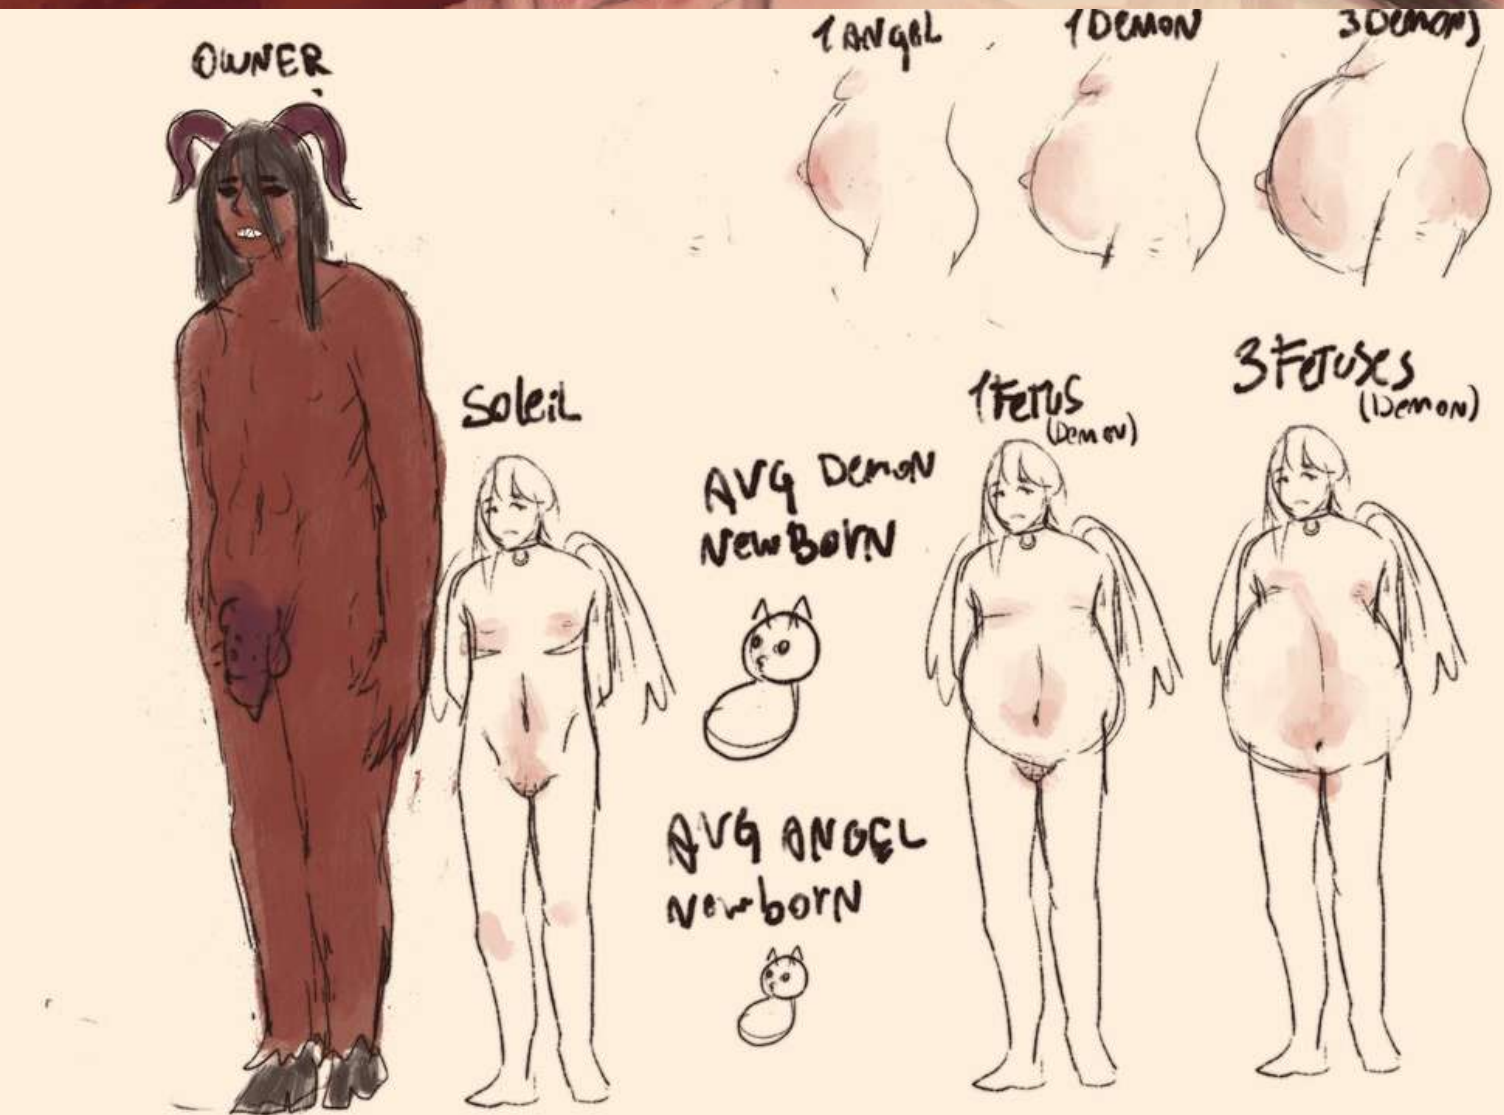

Of course, Soleil couldn't answer, the collar also blocked his voice

If the angel was able to cum in under a minute he would buy him

The market would close in five minutes and, if he didn't buy him, surely no one else would

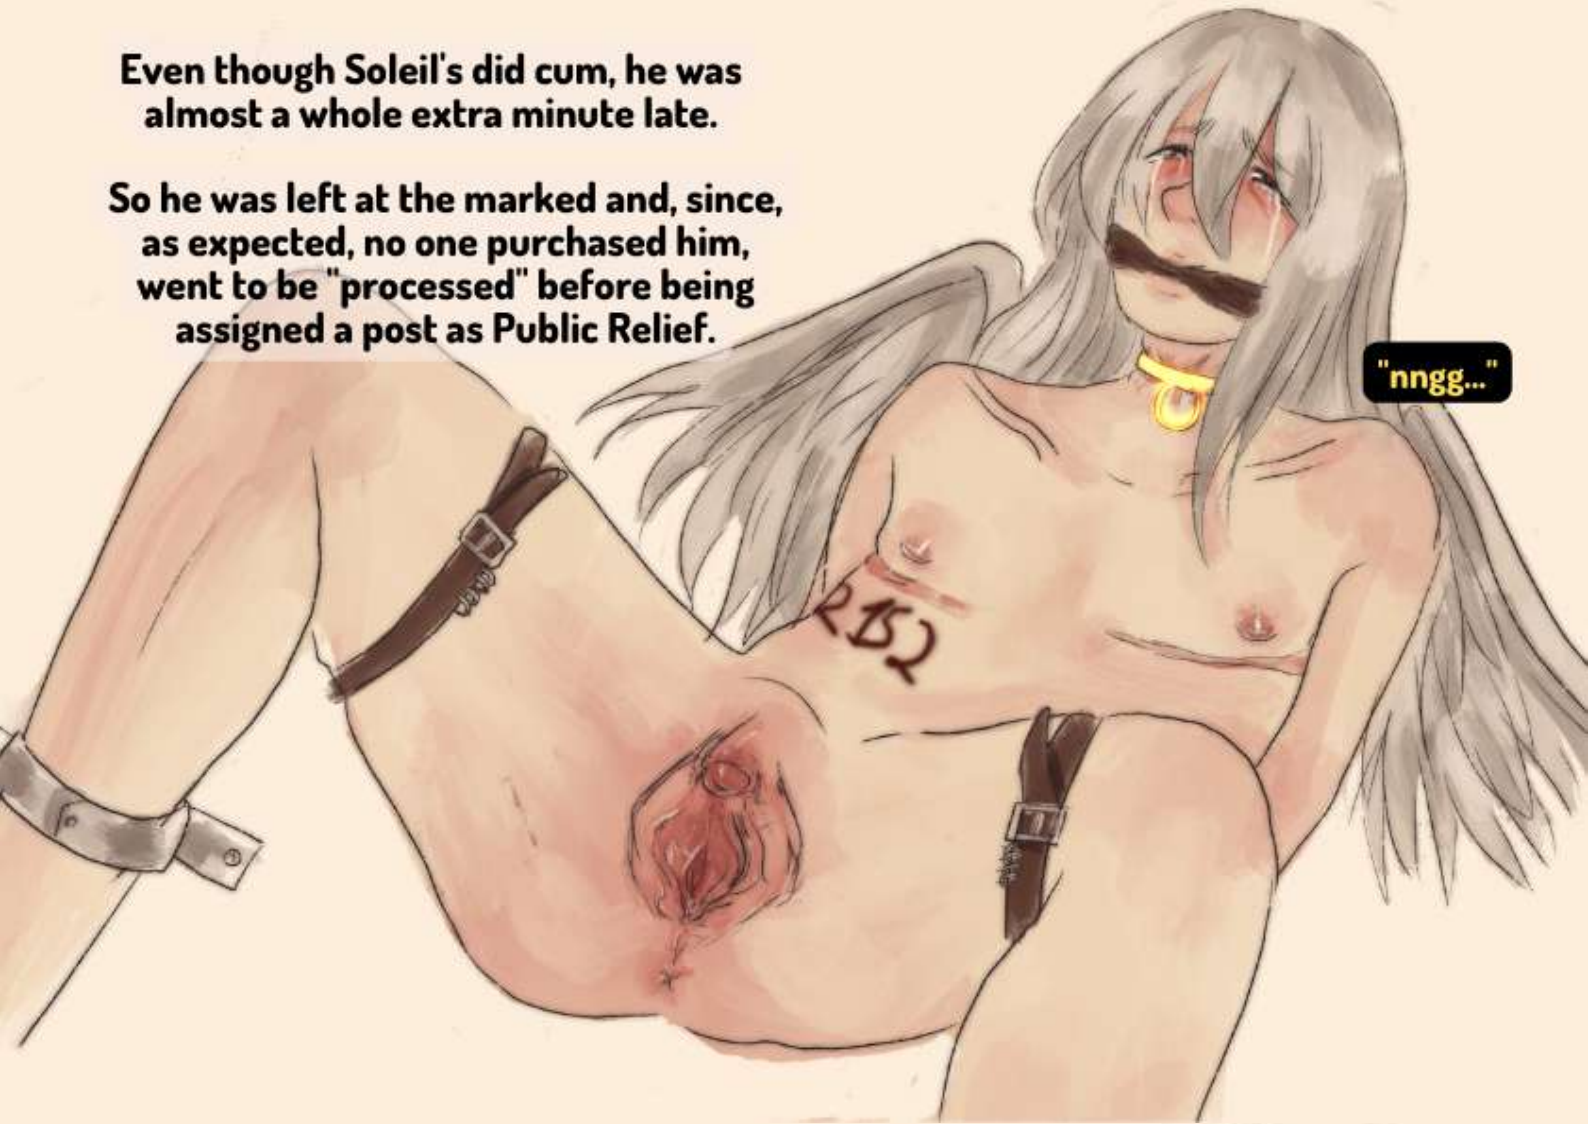

His choice was between throwing away any pride left, submitting and cumming by the hands of a demon, while naked and in the middle of a crowded market, or facing a fate possibly worse than death

It wasn't a hard choice, but the angel was afraid the he wouldn't be able to make it regardless

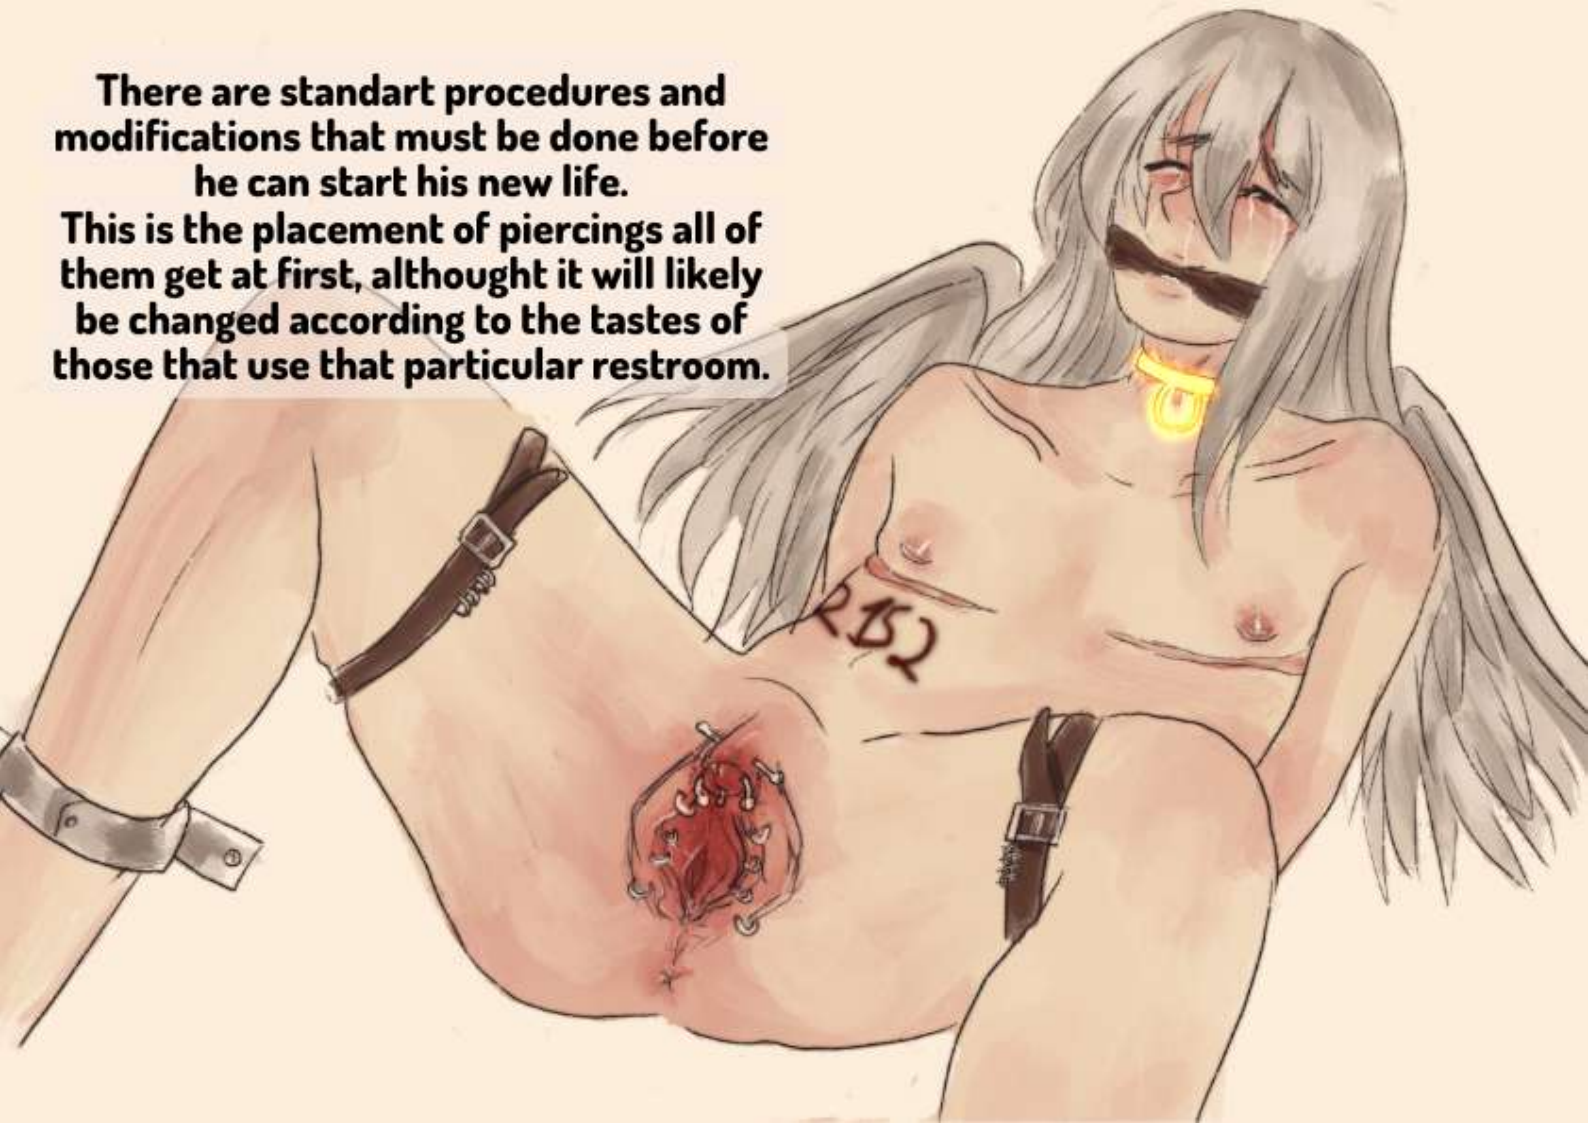

Even though Soleil's did cum, he was almost a whole extra minute late.

So he was left at the marked and, since, as expected, no one purchased him, went to be "processed" before being assigned a post as Public Relief.

There are standart procedures and modifications that must be done before he can start his new life.

This is the placement of piercings all of them get at first, although it will likely be changed according to the tastes of those that use that particular restroom.

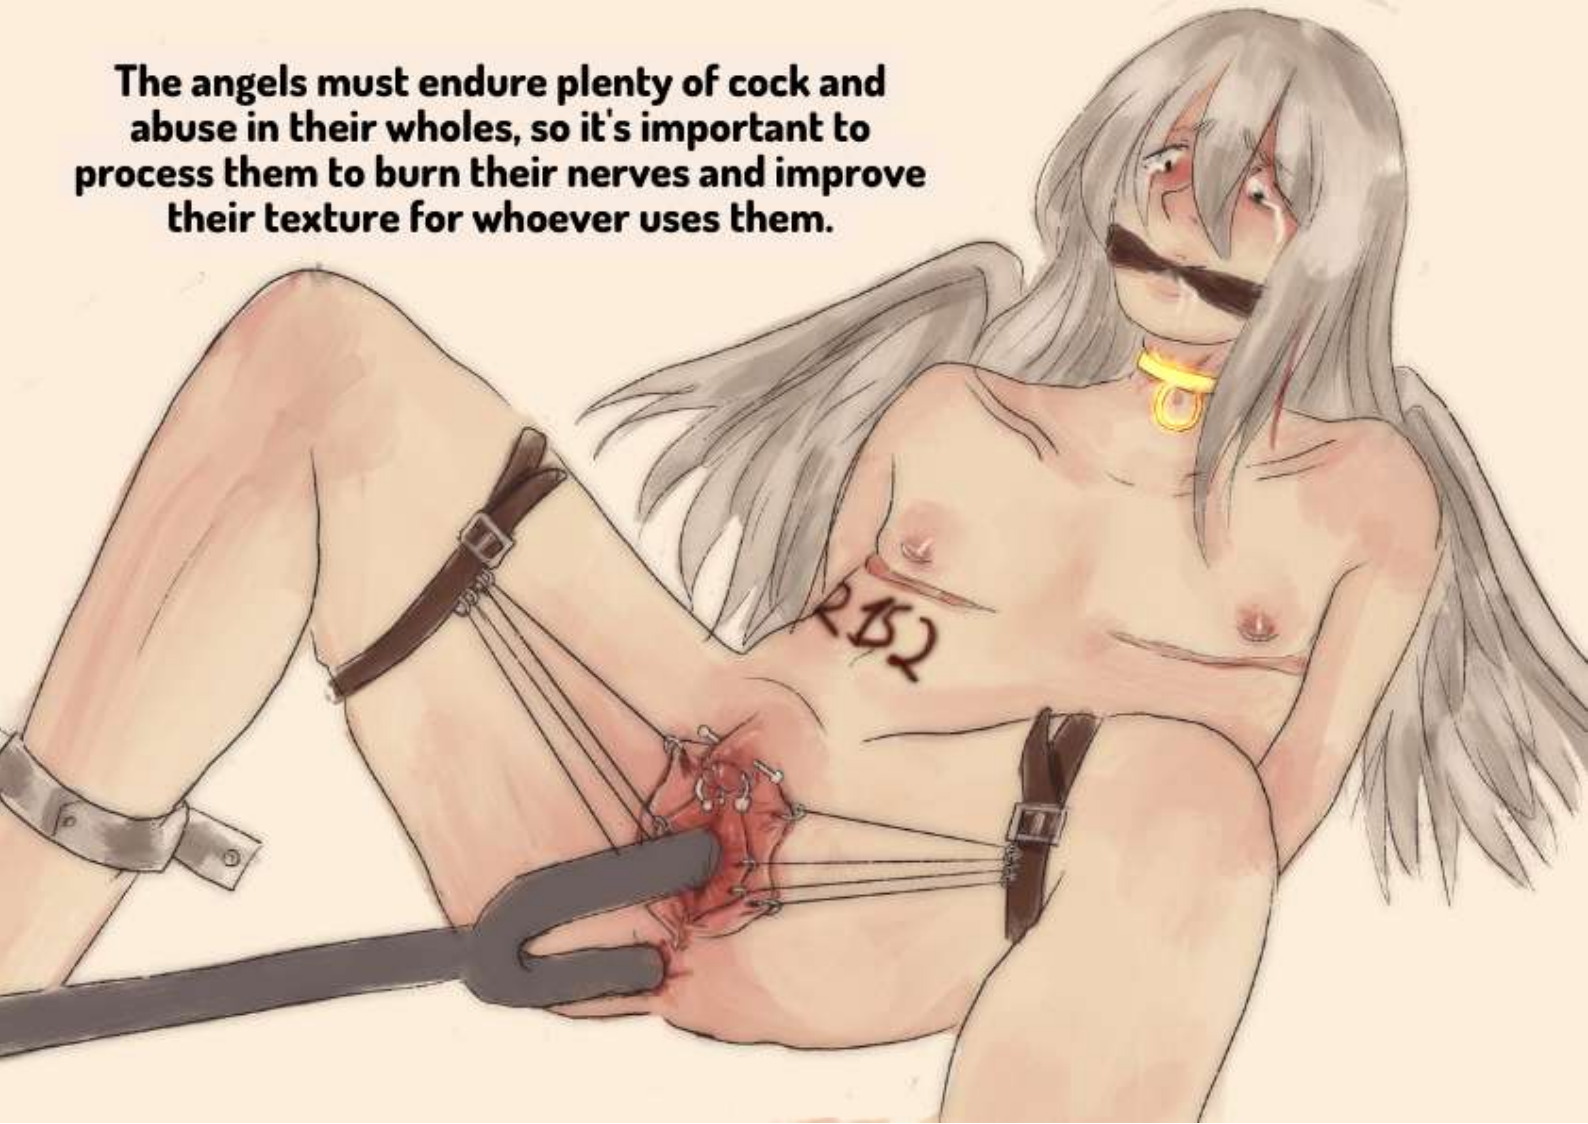

They of course, aren't without a purpose.

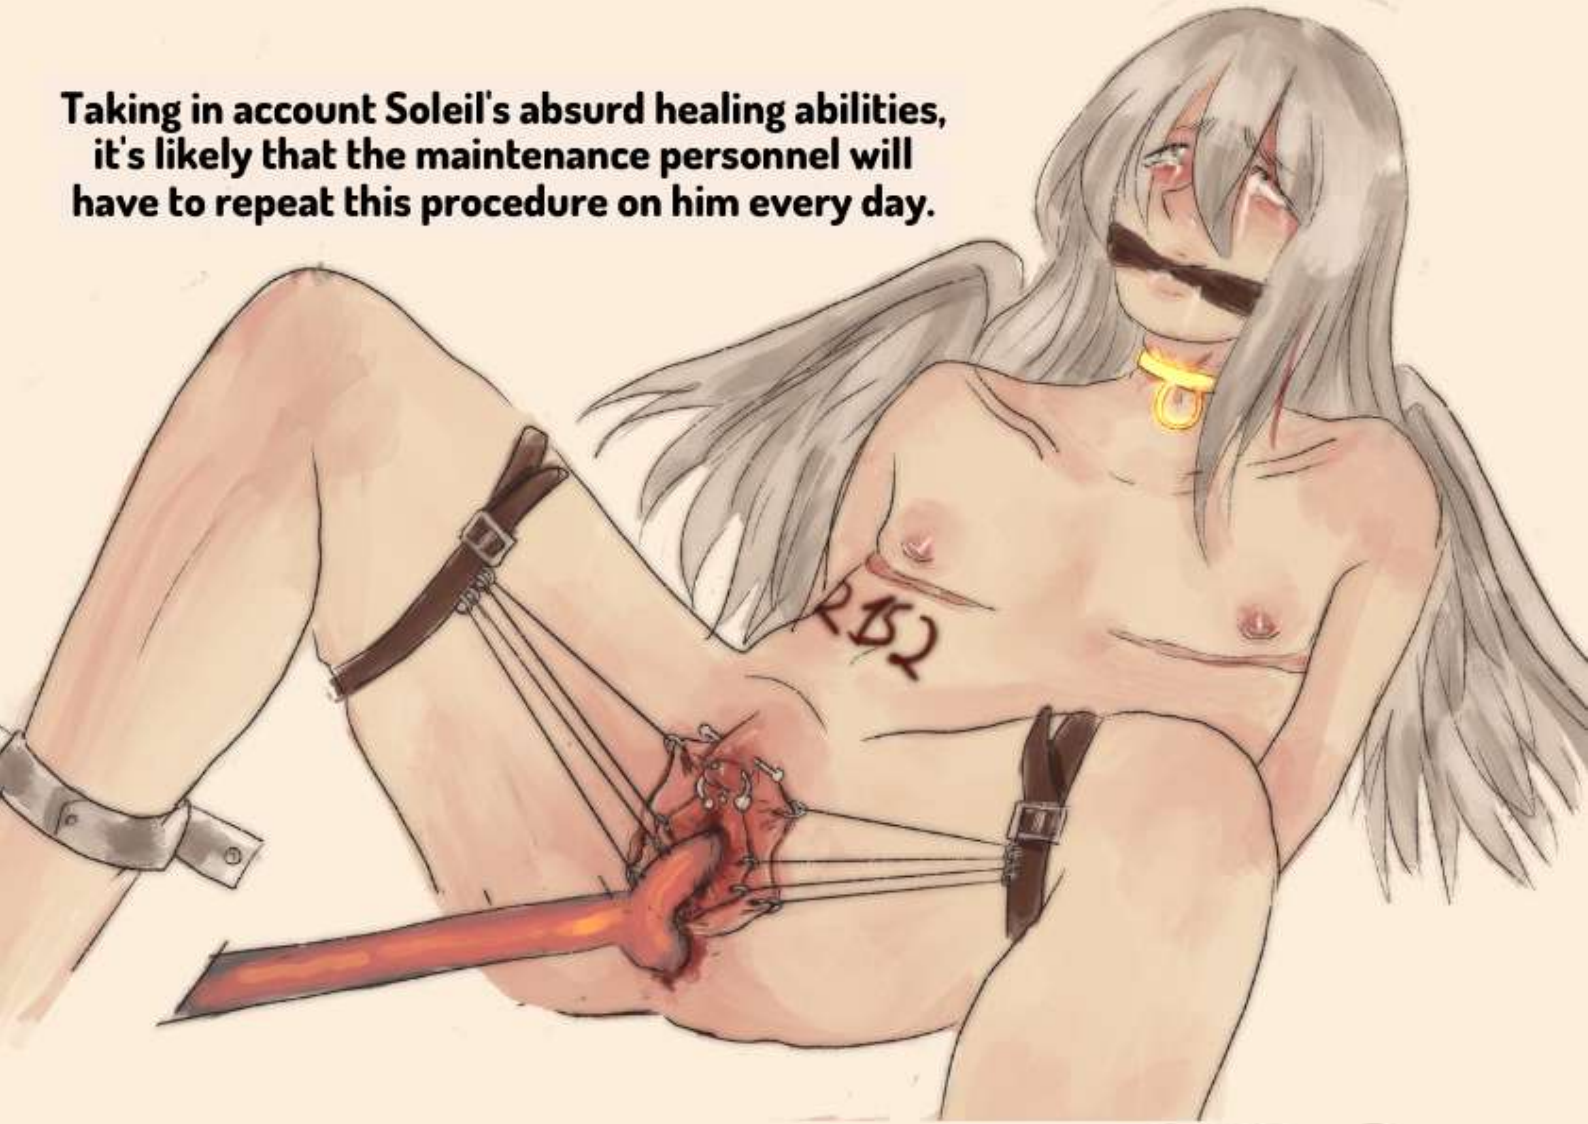

Public Relief angels must have their genitals spread open at all times, and, although it's not illegal for a demon to remove the strings or piercings while using him, it's common courtesy to put them back into place.

The angels must endure plenty of cock and abuse in their wholes, so it's important to process them to burn their nerves and improve their texture for whoever uses them.

Taking in account Soleil's absurd healing abilities, it's likely that the maintenance personnel will have to repeat this procedure on him every day.

Technically, you're supposed to just leave the rod in place until it's done, but because Public Reliefs must be prepared for the abuse they'll face, the person responsible for processing might change things up to cause them a bit more of pain.

This one decided to not only move it back and forth, but he also left it for a bit more than he was supposed to.

This isn't an issue. Soleil is already considered public property even before being stationed, as long as he's not killed, even the maintenance people can play around with him if they desire.

Sometimes, parts of the angel's skin will come out on the rod. While this isn't ideal, it's not dangerous and won't interfere with the usability of his holes.

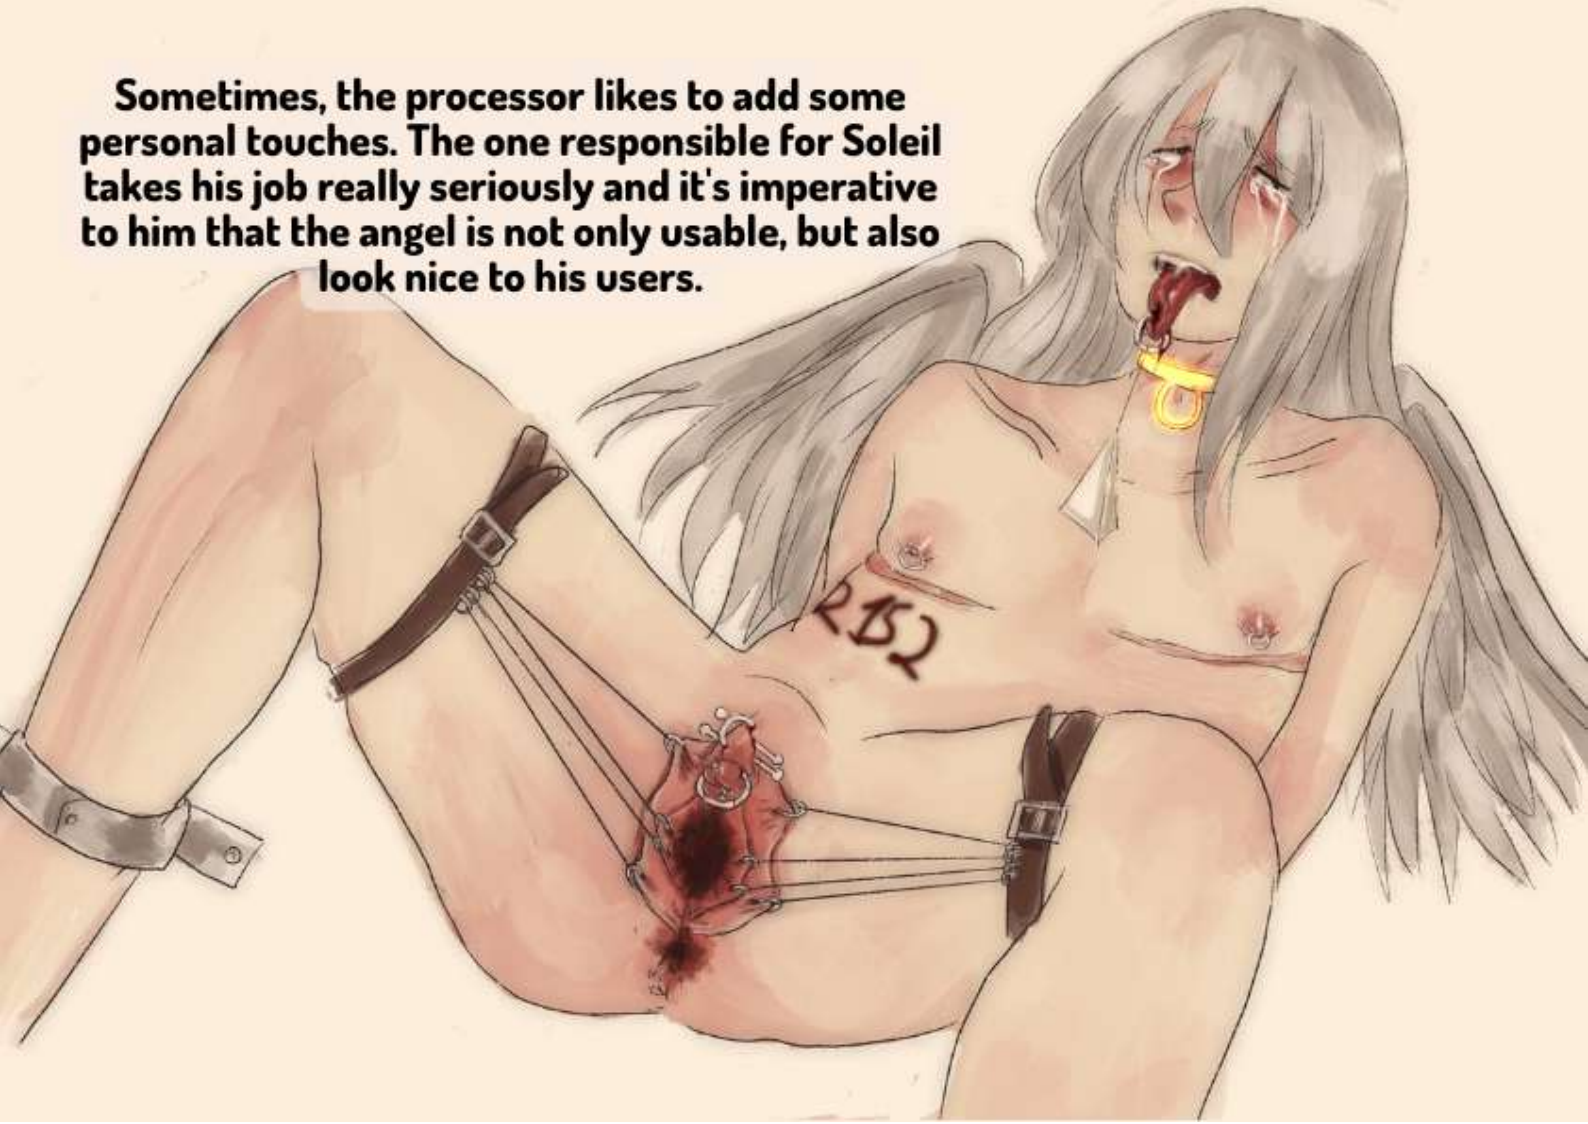

Now his cunt and anus have a pretty dark red color! He's ready for both breeding and fun-

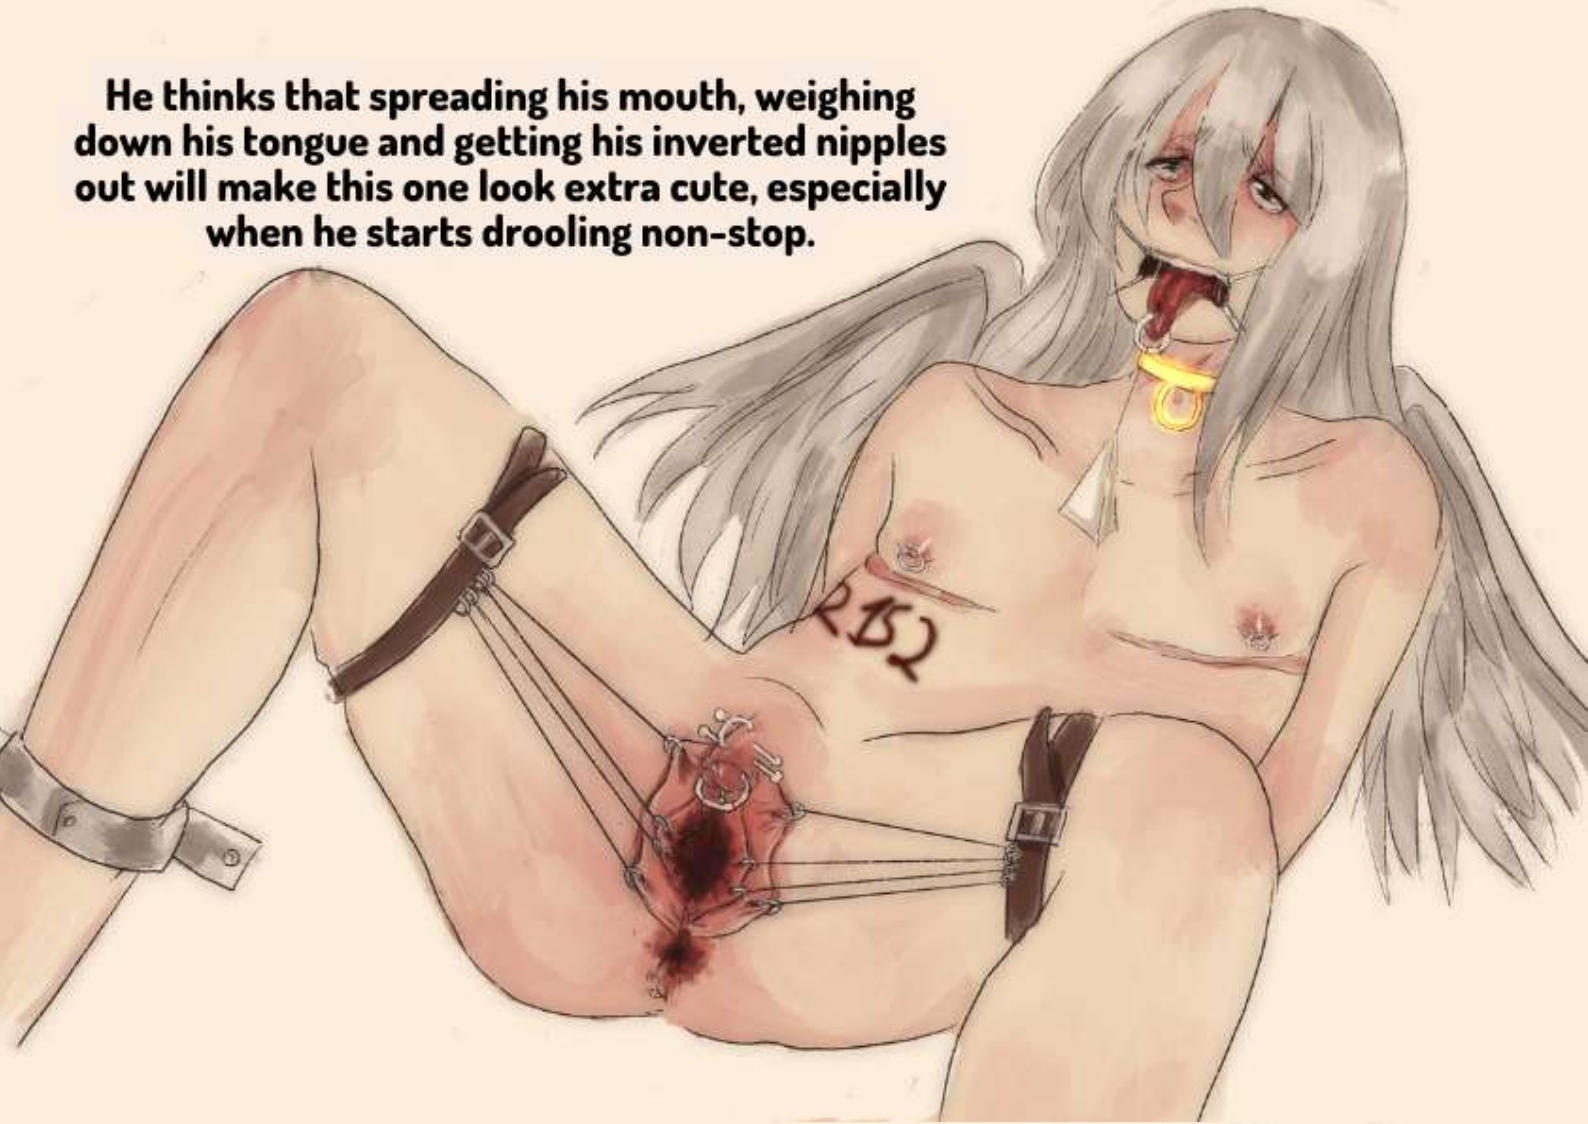

Well, almost.

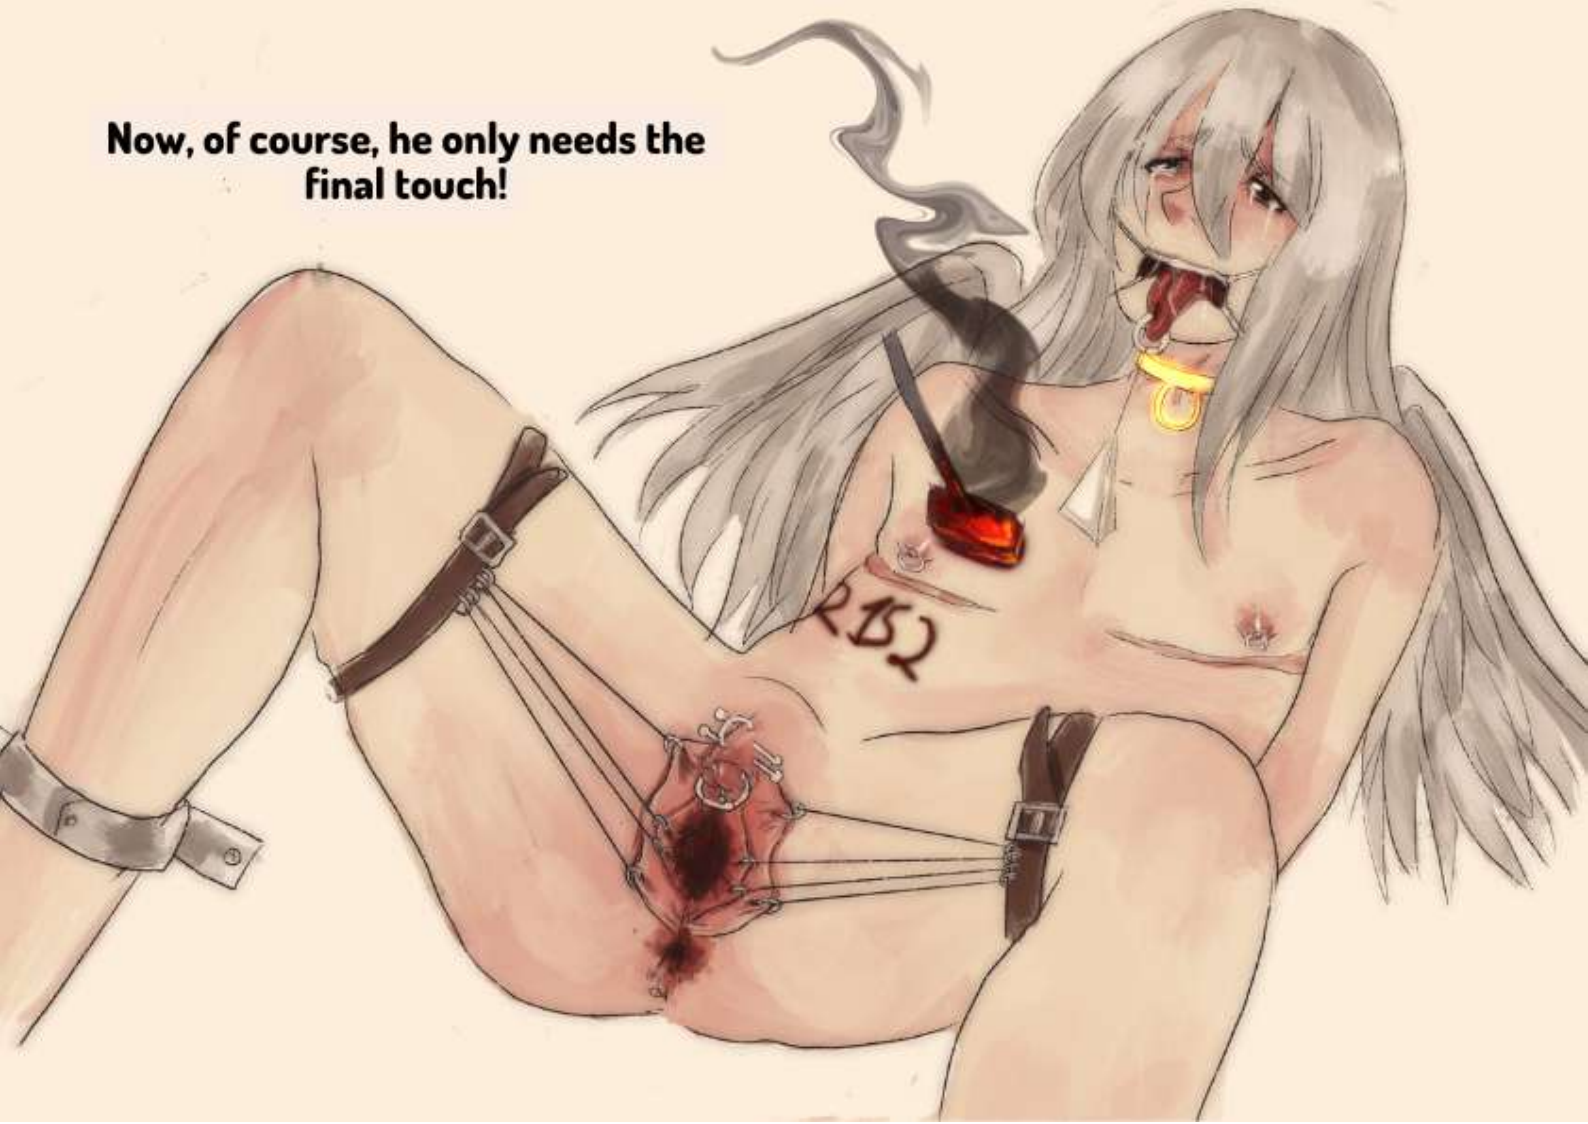

Sometimes, the processor likes to add some personal touches. The one responsible for Soleil takes his job really seriously and it's imperative to him that the angel is not only usable, but also look nice to his users.

He thinks that spreading his mouth, weighing down his tongue and getting his inverted nipples out will make this one look extra cute, especially when he starts drooling non-stop.

Now, of course, he only needs the final touch!

It's important that people can quickly tell that he's public property and not a lost or abandoned pet with an owner. Branding him like that ensures that no mistake of the sort will happen.

Of course, one of the perks of being an angel processor was to get to use their holes first!

This guy (and most of them) usually just fuck their assholes. Most demon actually prefer not to have their babies come from a Public Relief.

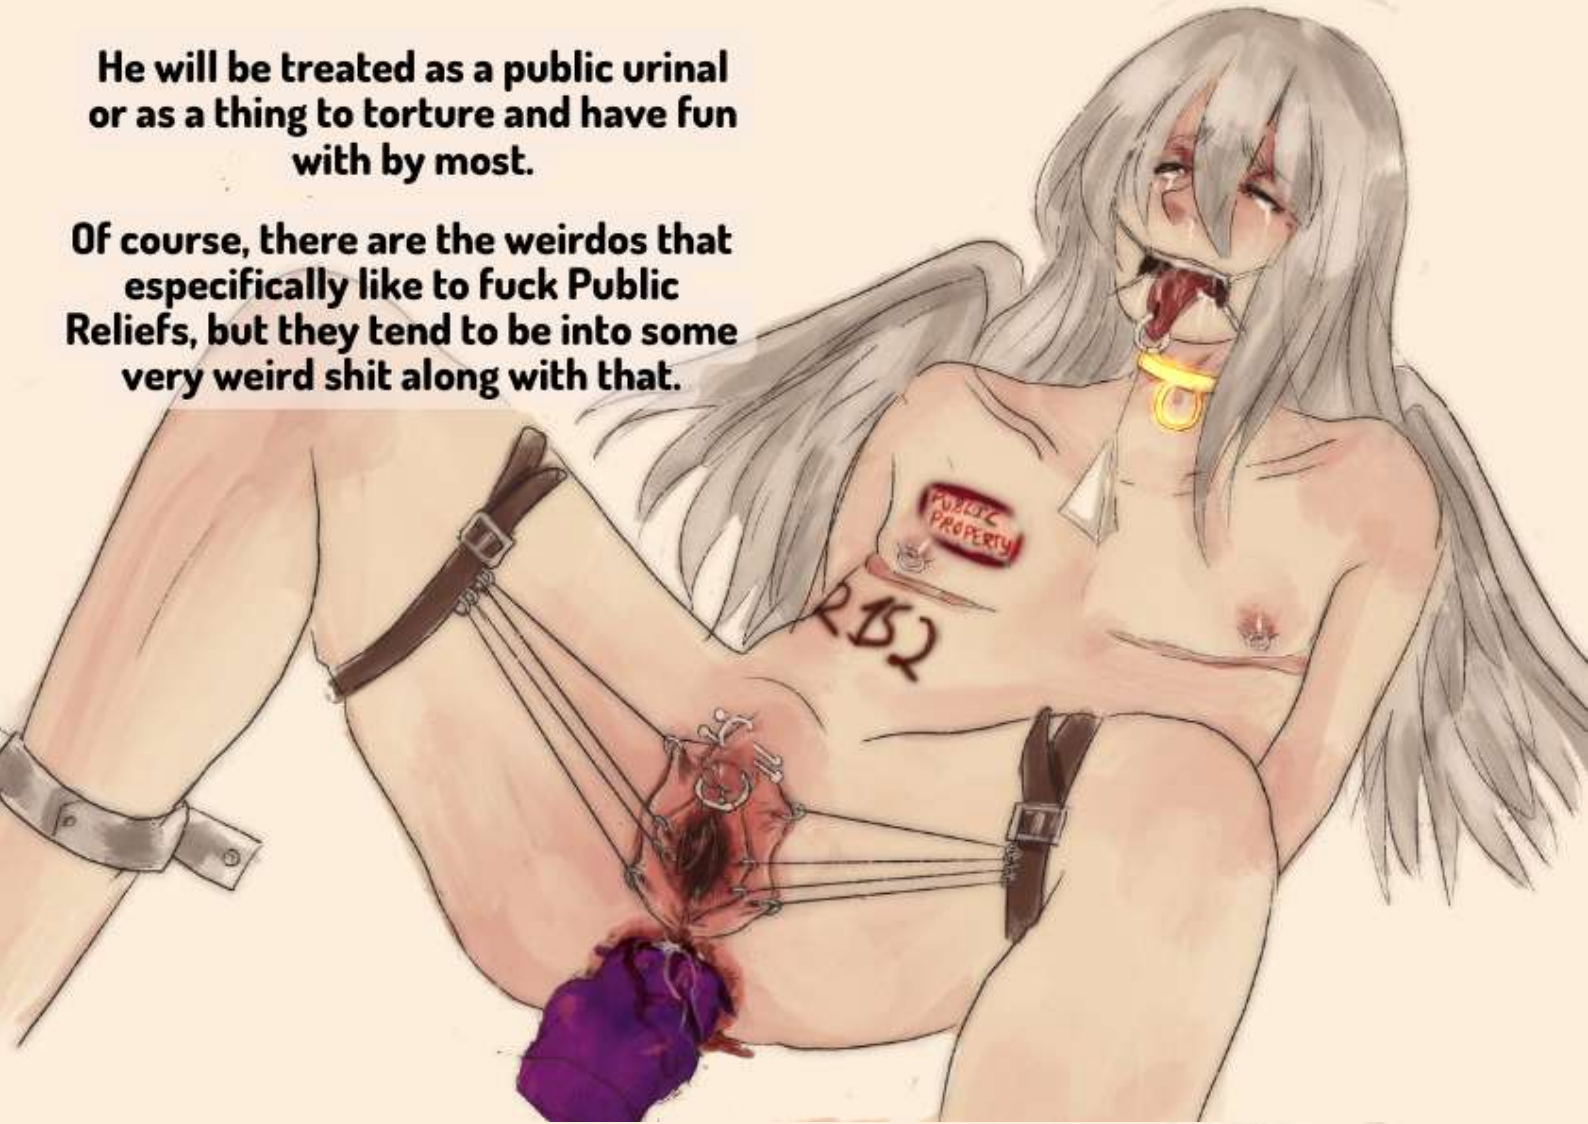

It's a know fact that only degenerates actually use their pussies. Most people don't even stick their cocks in them.

Unless you're the first to fuck them in a day, it's impossible to tell how dirty they might be, so it's best to not risk it.

He will be treated as a public urinal or as a thing to torture and have fun with by most.

Of course, there are the weirdos that specifically like to fuck Public Reliefs, but they tend to be into some very weird shit along with that.

Thankfully for them, those angels have no say in how they're used, so even the most degenerate of demons can make their fetishes come true!

Because abusing Public Reliefs are such a good outlet, violence levels drastically lowers in places where they're stationed.

Soleil's healing levels are high enough that he can be stationed alone.

He is so above average in that regard that he will be the sole Public Relief of a very busy restroom in the city center's park!

It used to be occupied for four, but one died and the other two were transferred as they were at risk. People that frequent that place tend to be quite violent, it seems.

Let's hope Soleil does well at his new job <3

The life of a Public Relief had 3 distinct phases: Pillory, urinal and confinement

The first one, which is the one Soleil is currently at, mainly serves the purpose of getting the angel pregnant. This phase ends once their pregnancies are far enough along that uterine insertions are no longer possible and fucking them is no longer as enjoyable.

TODAY: 00
TOTAL: 03

This usually takes around 4 months.

Until then, Soleil will be mounted on a public square 24/7. Maintenance, check-ups and cleaning will be done daily by gov. employees.

As you can see in the counter, other people had some fun with him before placing him here. But it's ok, that isn't illegal or anything, he is public property after all!

This is actually the first time Soleil's pussy is used so, congrats on losing your womb virginity! <3

A demon's penis reacts differently when it's penetrating an angel's pussy (instead of any other part). This is due to a certain chemical in their cervixes that causes the knot of the person inside of them to swell and expand.

This, in turn, gets the demon stuck inside the angel until ejaculation ceases. This can last up to 10 minutes and this whole time, they're being filled with cum.

While this is happening, the angel's body reacts to the cum filling their uterus and starts to ovulate. Conception rates are usually close do 100%.

Because public reliefs will typically get used in quick succession, the norm for them is to ovulate multiple times and end up with 3-5 babies inside of them.

But, since Soleil is so small and this much fetuses inside of him could cause his death, a gov. employee is there to make sure there's some pauses between each womb penetration, so he won't ovulate as much.

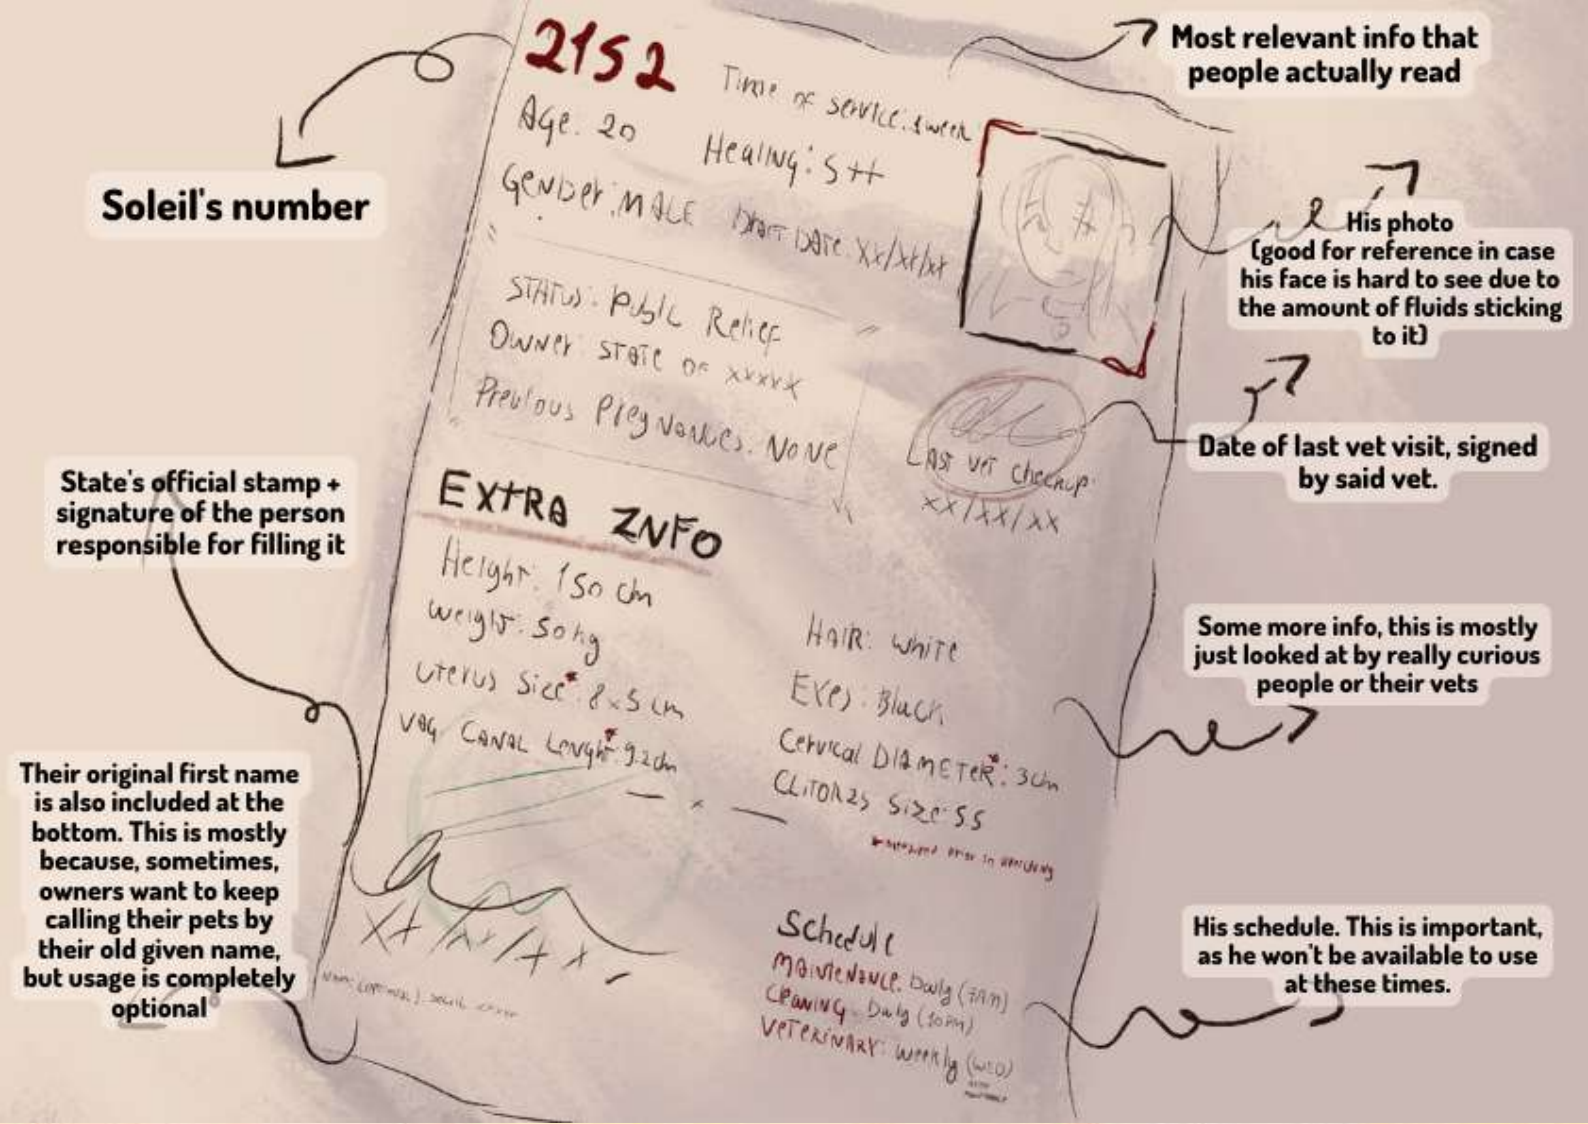

It might be a bit of a hassle, but it's best not to risk losing property, especially when it's so barely used yet like Soleil.

Soleil's number

Most relevant info that people actually read

His photo (good for reference in case his face is hard to see due to the amount of fluids sticking to it)

Date of last vet visit, signed by said vet.

State's official stamp + signature of the person responsible for filling it

Some more info, this is mostly just looked at by really curious people or their vets

Their original first name is also included at the bottom. This is mostly because, sometimes, owners want to keep calling their pets by their old given name, but usage is completely optional

His schedule. This is important, as he won't be available to use at these times.

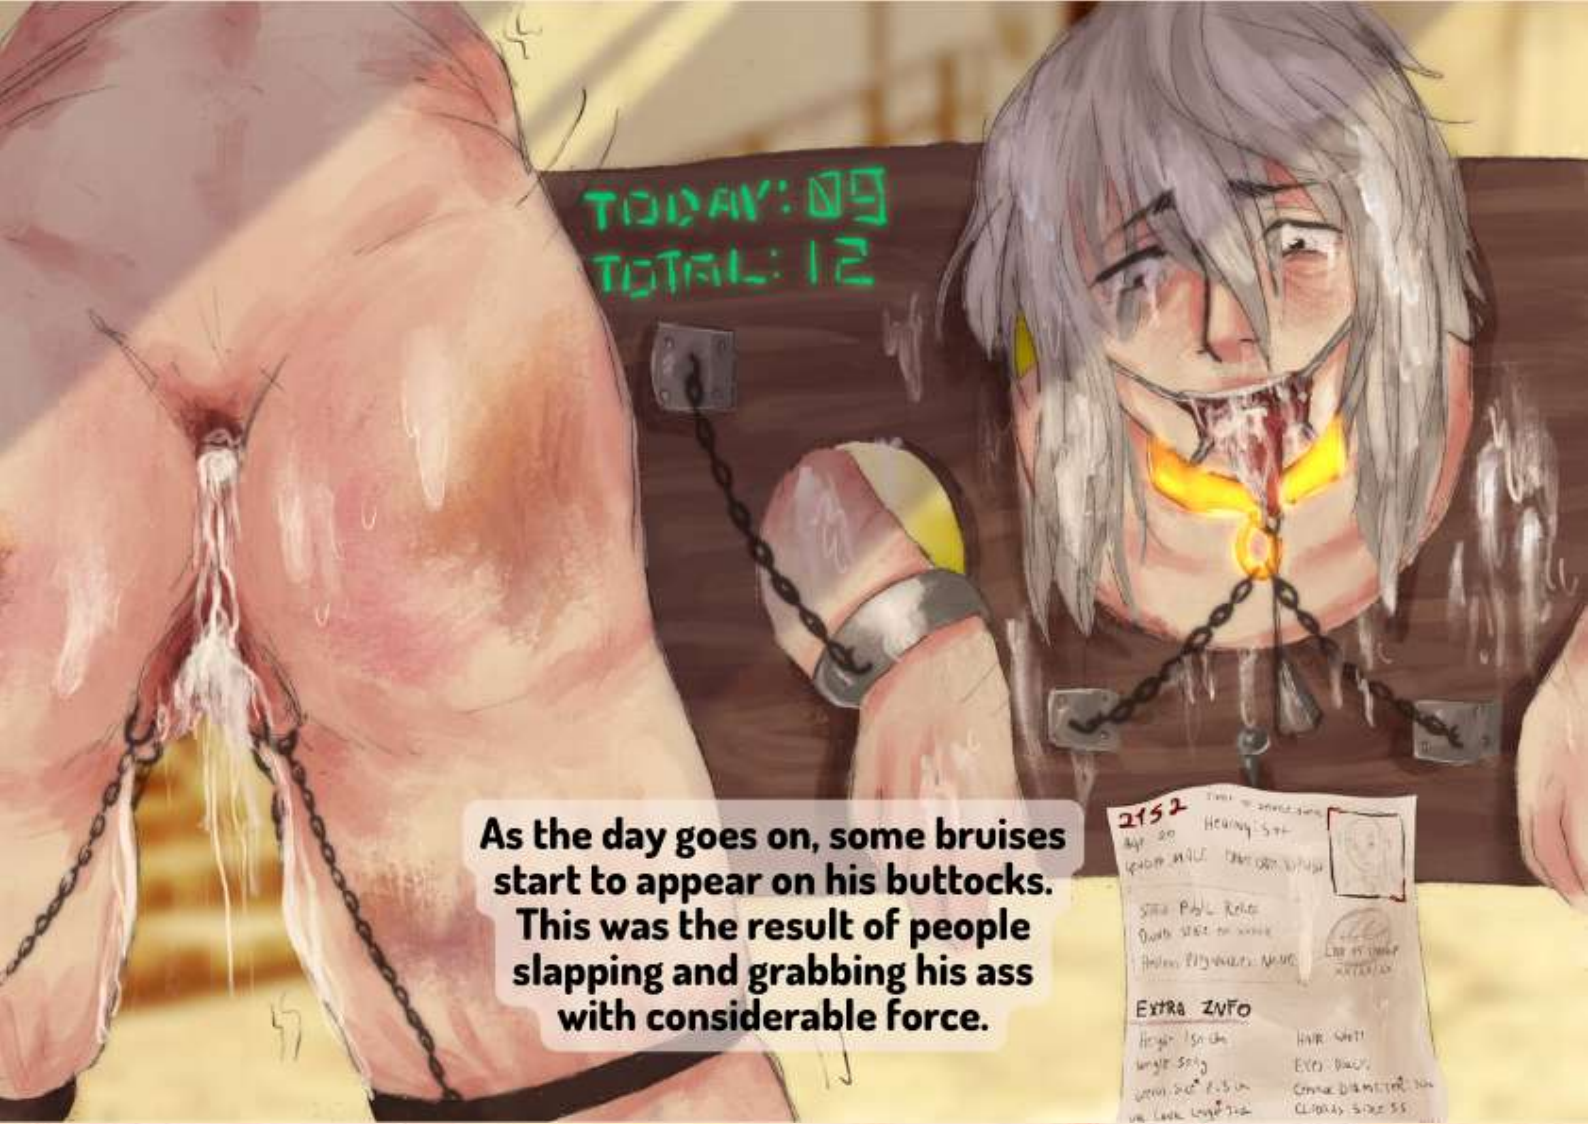

Of course, his anus doesn't need to be monitored for ovulation, so some people decide it's not worth the wait and just fuck him there.

And, while he can't exactly take a demon cock in his mouth, some like rubbing their on his face, hands and tongue.

TODAY: 07

As the day goes on, some bruises start to appear on his buttocks. This was the result of people slapping and grabbing his ass with considerable force.

Some also enjoy using their long nails to make small cuts and scratches on his skin.

At this stage, this is the most you are allowed to hurt him, and you can't use any foreign objects either.

Soleil, of course can't speak, move, or even scream.

The chains tying him to the pillory are mostly just aesthetics and an extra safety measure

What really controls him is this collar, that is placed on all property angels as soon as they're drafted.

It's connected straight to their spinal cord and can affect all of their nervous system.

It's used mostly to control movement and sensations.

Although the collar opens up (for cleaning purposes), removal is impossible.

Disconnecting it from their spines is often fatal and, if it doesn't kill them, it will severely incapacitate them. It's used mostly to control movement and sensations.

Once an angel becomes property, it's for life.

Their records are erased, and any mention of their old self is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

This effectively erases their entire previous existence as a person and takes away any future possibility of returning to normalcy.

It seems poor Sol had his jaw dislocated. Hopefully he will get used to it, as it's a daily thing for public reliefs.

Now he can fit a bit of a cock in his mouth!

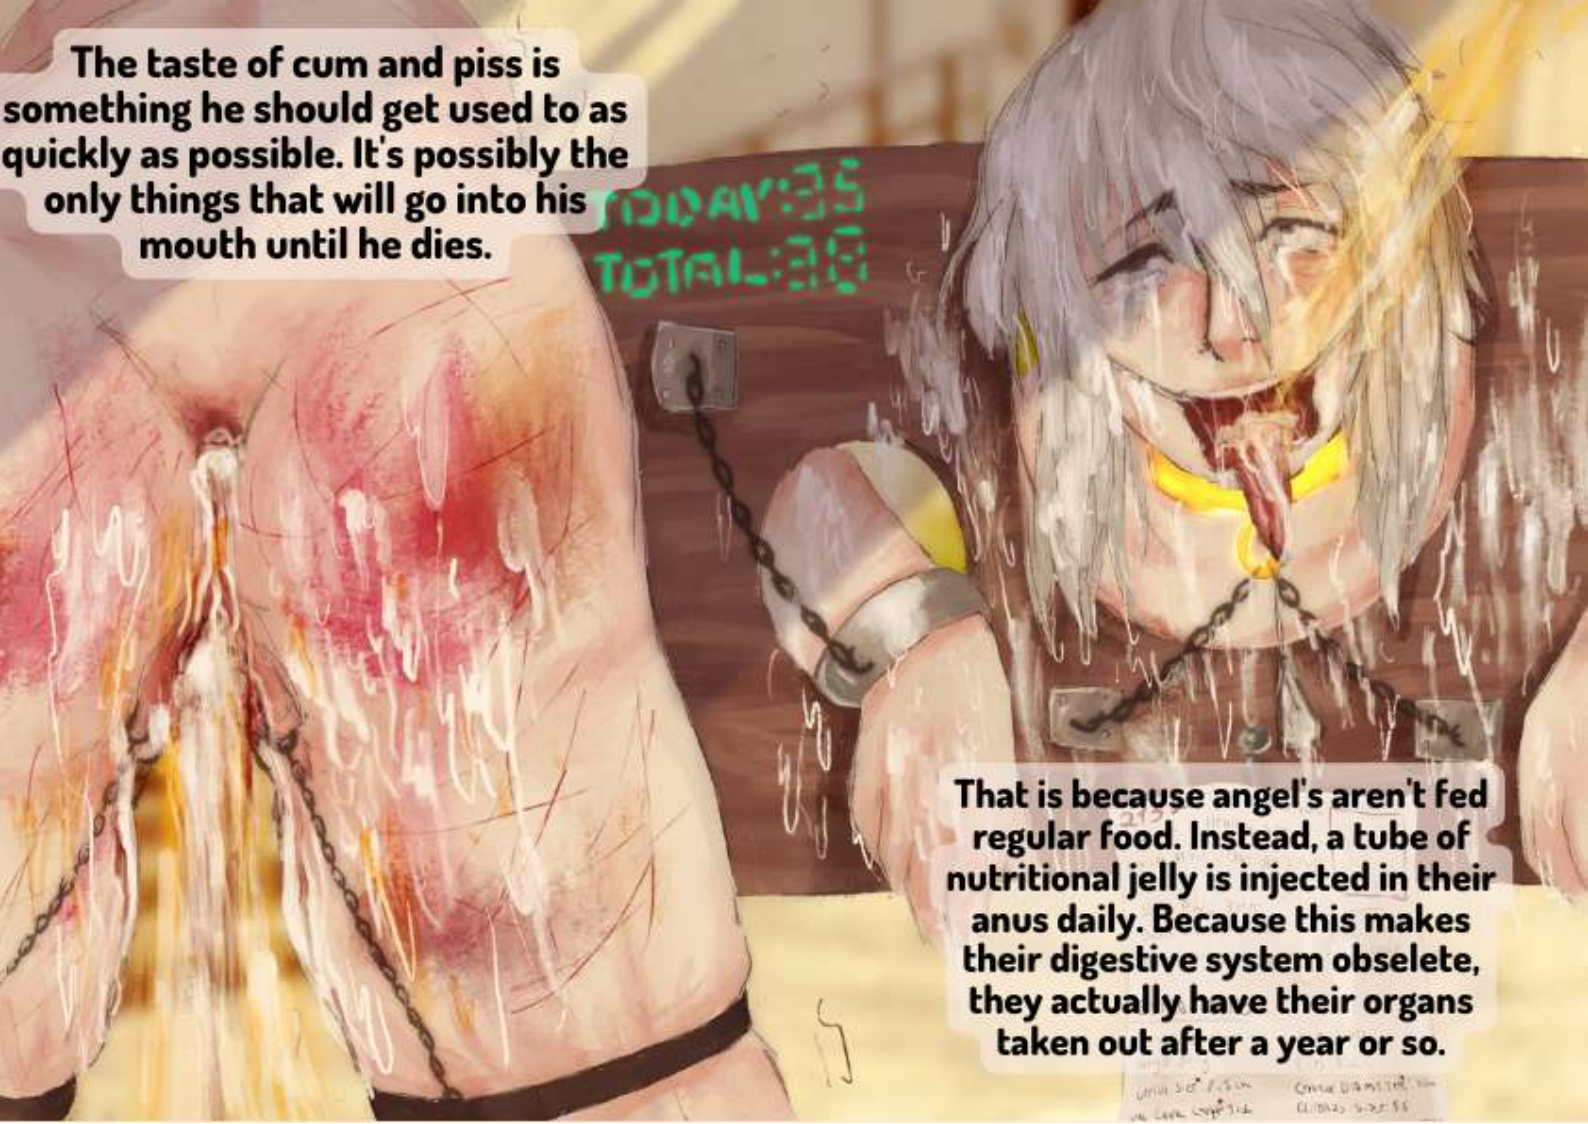

While the pillory stage forbids people from using the inside of his cunt as a urinal, there are no rules about the outside or his ass.

Around four hours have passed since Soleil took his post. His buttocks are bright red and bruised already and cum won't stop flowing out of him.

But to be honest, he likely can't tell the difference between cum, piss and his own blood flowing out of him anymore.

The taste of cum and piss is something he should get used to as quickly as possible. It's possibly the only things that will go into his mouth until he dies.

That is because angel's aren't fed regular food. Instead, a tube of nutritional jelly is injected in their anus daily. Because this makes their digestive system obsolete, they actually have their organs taken out after a year or so.

This is both to save healing energy long term, avoid accidental organ rupture in the future and make more space for his womb when it expands during pregnancy.

Oh, it seems he passed the 100th mark already! Not many angels can get there for the first time without fainting, congrats!

As night sets, the crowd of people subside. The cleaner douses him with water and cleans any fluids stuck to him. He also cleans his insides with a high pressure hose, which is usually quite painful.

But Soleil has passed out from exhaustion and doesn't even feel anything.

Since he's now clean and sleeping, the cleaner decides to use him a bit as well.

Some people prefer using them while they're unconscious because they feel the angel's holes are more relaxed at these times.

Supervision tends to be a bit lacking in the night, so some rules are sometimes broken.

While technically a crime was committed, no one really will check the cameras and try to prosecute anyone because of some needles

TODAY: 133

Maintenance person will have to remove the needles in the morning, but other than that, there's no lasting property damage. So there's no need to bother.

For the next months, this will be Soleil's daily routine. Let's hope he will adapt well to it!
